Your Memory Burns On

Do not stand at my
grave and weep;
I am not there,
I do not sleep.
I am a thousand winds that blow,
I am the diamond's
glint on snow.
I am the sunlight on ripened grain,
I am the gentle
autumn's rain.
Do not stand at my
grave and cry;
I am not there,
I did not die.

Brandon L. Slugg Fesler

It is with great sadness that on May fifteenth we said good-bye to Brandon L. "Slugg" Fesler. His life was taken by a tragic car accident in which Keith Uht and Bria Frech were passengers. Keith and Bria suffered broken jaws but recovered well. Slugg's death was a great loss for many of us and we are trying our best to carry on without him. We will always carry you in our hearts Slugg.

Slugg

Your smile
Your humor
Your warm and gentle touch
these are only a few of the things
I loved about you so much.
The way you would smile during a downpour on a rainyday, the way you laughed the way you joked in your own special way.
You always had a way of making me feel good,
I could tell you anything you always understood.
The pain and sorrow I feel right now your spirit will slowly heal, Sometimes it's hard to face the fact that all of this is real.
Until we meet again my freind my guardian angel you will be,
I want you to know that I loved you as much as you loved me.
Our friendship will never end
just because you are gone,
True friendship lasts forever it goes on and on and on.

I miss you Slugg
Erin St. John

It wasn't hard to get attached to Slugg fast, he was the type of person that you could tell almost anything to. Still nobody knew him like his closest buddies did. It was an everyday occurrence to see this big group of kids just hanging out on Casey Murphy's front porch, usually laughing and listening to Pink Floyd. Of course you would see Shawn and Casey skateboarding. Slugg always used to skate board until he got his drivers license, then all of us cruised around in his dad's maroon van. It didn't matter if the weather was sunny or rainy, you could walk by out in Fort Stevens and we would all be there having fun. It was always long days and loud nights, these memories we will always hold on to.

Some of our fondest memories with Slugg were when he made hamburgers and he would put just about anything you could think of inside the burgers and they would always turn out so good. He never made them the same way twice.

Slugg was always great to be around, he was always exaggerating his stories. He was the only person I knew who could take a story and tell it about twenty different ways but still make it funny every time. We never said to him "shut up that's not what happened!". We always listened even though we knew that, that wasn't what really happened.

We'll Miss You!

FRESHMEN

THE LIGHTS ARE ON BUT NOBODY'S HOME!

The 1997-98 Freshmen class entered Warrenton High School with 77 people. How many will be left by their Graduation in 2001? Only time will truly tell.

It's a new and scary experience compared to the Grade School. In Kindergarten the goal has always been to make it past being a sevey, and go on to become an eighth grader.

As a Freshmen starting at the bottom of the food chain, the goal is to make it past the first week. Troubles seem endless. The Seniors seem intimidating and the schedules are anything but fun. Finding the right classroom is one thing, but finding it during the right period is next to an impossibility. You will probably look back and laugh, or not?

HOT TOPIC

Q: What's it like being a twin?

A: "It's like looking at a mirror-image of yourself, that's standing right next to you, who talks and looks like you, but personality wise they're completely different."

-Alison Flynn

A: "It can be both good and bad. You've always got somebody to talk to and listen to your problems. But when we get into fights it usually takes a long time to recover."

We are back! Another year and we're at it again. The beginning of this year wasn't as exciting as the last just back to the same old routine. Our first day was filled with familiar faces and the same old classrooms. However, we are still confused about some things like: Just how long are those passing periods?

Although over half of us were late our first day we soon got into the swing of things. Even though we are still lower classmen we take on the challenges of this year with a positive attitude and look forward to the years ahead of us. We keep in mind that today we follow and tomorrow we lead.

While eating lunch Amanda Plummer and Stacey Johnson flash a smile. We assume it wasn't because of the pilaf.

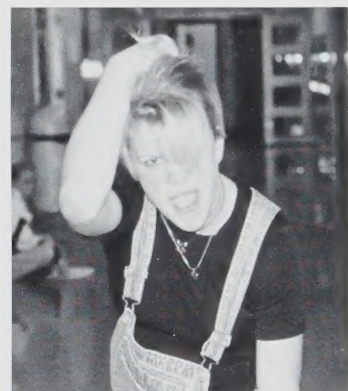

Late for class Cheyanne Hudson was in the halls supposedly getting her homework.

Waiting for lunch Jessica Johnson and Robin Waring smile throughout all the tummy grumbling.

Sophomores Erin St. John and Melissa Hancey let Tenzin Tsering snap a photo of the two of them before they go back to taking pictures for the yearbook.

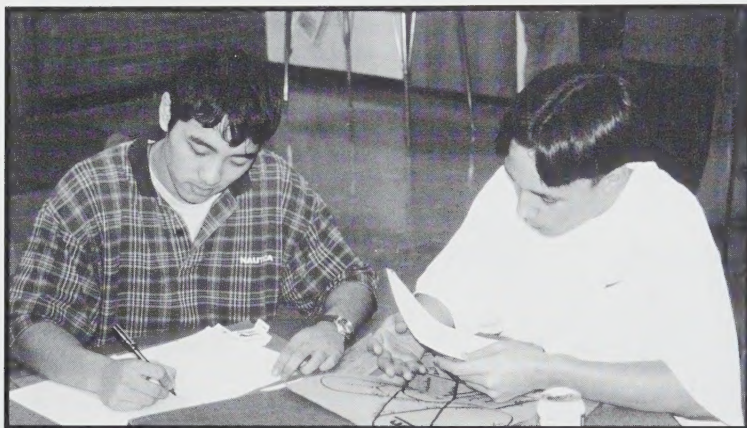

The Juniors Are Sizzling

September has rolled around again and for the class of 1999 that means they must return for another school year. The only difference is that this time they are upper-classmen in the 1997-1998 school year! Next year they will return as Seniors. It is hard to be patient, when you are waiting for a senior year, full of privileges and fun. After two years of high school they have started to pick their goals for when they graduate. They are working hard to get there. As Juniors they are taking mostly required classes, so that they can choose fun classes for their Senior year. All they can do until then is to show the Seniors that they are almost ready to sizzle into their final year.

In deep concentration are Tenpa Kunga and Jeremy Laforteza doing their homework. They have to hurry up, because lunch is just about over and they need their homework for their next class.

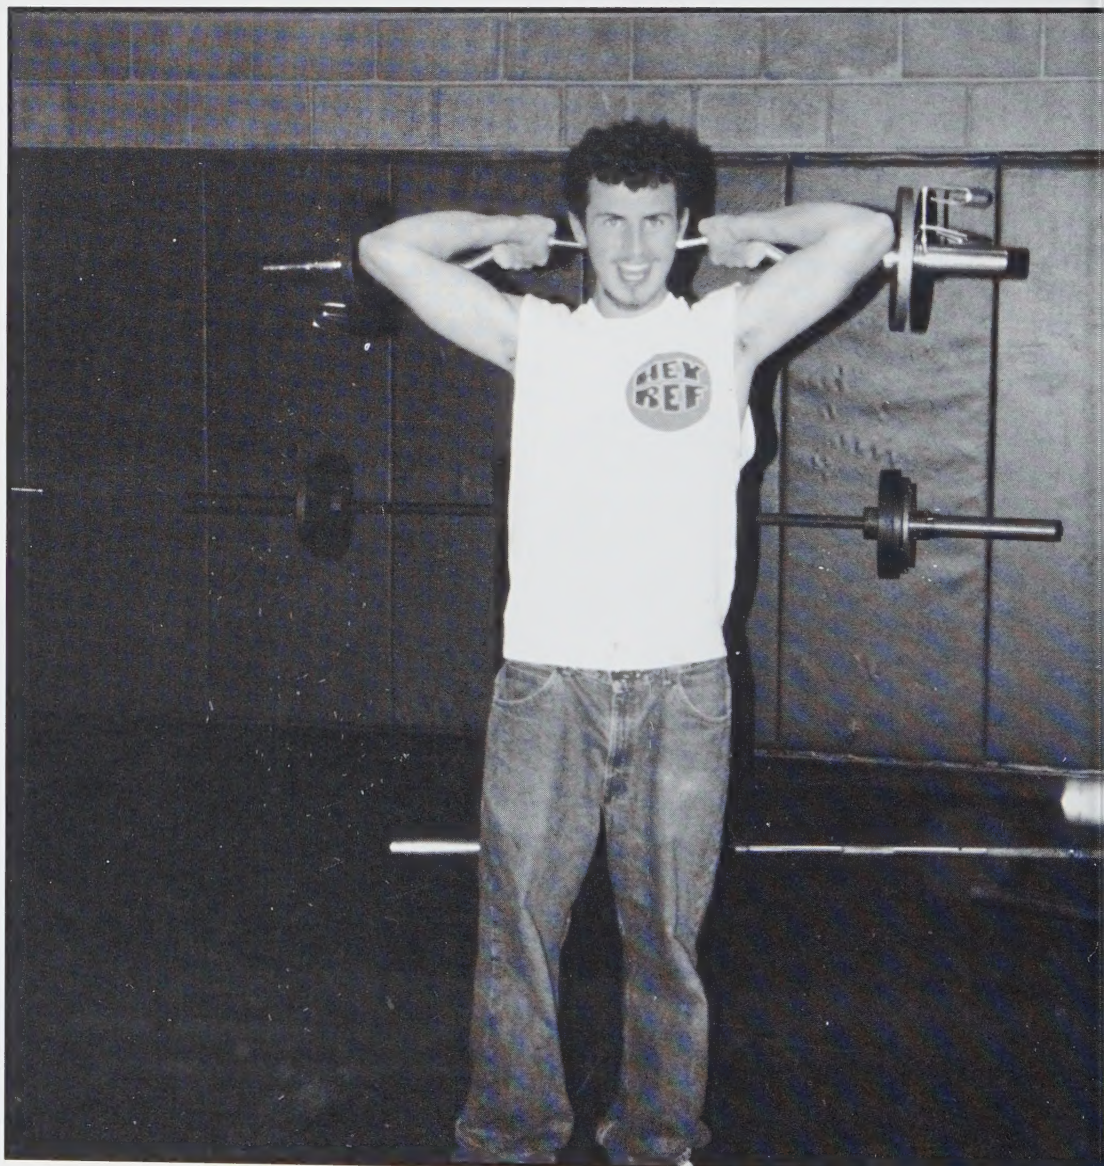

Watching drama class practice their new play "Bone-Chillers!". That is what Maria Ferrell is doing. When her character "Lucretia" is not required on the stage.

Best friends. Jocelyn Thomas and Arainia Comstock gave each other a last embrace before school starts. Then they have to hurry up to get to their first class.

Weightlifting after school practiced by Keith Hughes. He couldn't get into the Weightlifting class and he doesn't want to get up early in the morning. So he decided to train his body after school.

1998 Senior Inferno !!!

's September 1997 and the class of 1998 has returned for the last year as seniors! After a long summer we all returned and slowly adjusted to school life. Being seniors means we now get to take over the right to rule the senior lawn, not that anybody actually sits out there. It's just fun to kick off all the lower classmen. The front row of parking is also in our control. This year is going to be full of all the things we have been looking forward to for so long. Even the word senior makes you feel proud. Some people don't make it this far but we have. Now that we know our way around good old WHS and how things are done here we can sit back, and relax, and begin the year with a good start.

This should be our greatest year of school. It will also be our sadest. We will have to say goodbye to all our teachers and friends, but we will always have our memories. We'll never forget all the wacky happenings here.

Working hard Lily Higgins is having a great time in yearbook. Actually she's waiting for the computer to save so she can play solitaire with the rest of the class.

We're out to get you! Brandon Penning is looking very paranoid it must have been his lunch.

How sweet Steve Maltmen cuddles a white rabbit down at the fish farm.

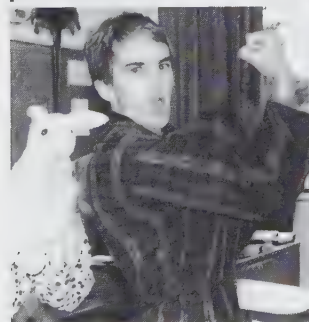

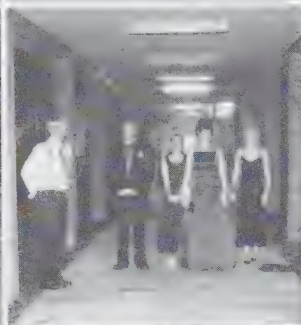

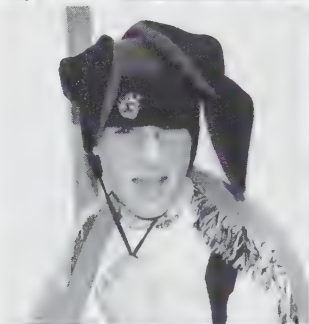

And the first grasshopper jumped right over the second grasshoppers back Alison Mattila and Than Tussing look like they're having fun at the fish farm.

Wake Up And Walk

It's Time once again for a fun filled week of Homecoming. Homecoming 1997 started Monday with "Wake Up and Walk". We were all excited when the week started off with an assembly at 8:00. The rules were announced so that the uninformed Freshmen would know what to expect.

Even though some people didn't dress up, most people have started to make plans for what they will wear for the rest of the week. With your votes turned in and counted the 1997-1998 Homecoming Court was introduced in the afternoon assembly. The Freshmen class escort was

Niles Gramson and his princess was Talia O'Brian. For the Class of 2000, Aaron Marshall was the escort and Sara Lee Stemper was his princess. The Junior class escort was Dusty McGrorty and his princess, Wendy Bandeen. Moving on to the class of 1998, the first escort was Steve Maltman and his princess was Jenny Forney. Couple number two was escort Matt Davis and his princess was Kim Horn. The third couple for the senior class was Chris Bergerson and princess San Nguyen. Congratulations to the 1997-1998 Homecoming Court!!!!

Teachers crowned King and Queen!!! This year, for the first time, the teachers voted to nominate their fellow co-workers for Homecoming king and queen. Mr. Mattila was named king and Ms. Soukup was named queen. Ms. Soukup was not there, so Mr. Mattila gladly accepted the crown and wore it with pride.

Pajama party. Friends Priscilla Russell, Tenzin Tsering and Maria Ferrell take the time to show off their super sleepwear. It is only proof to show the number of students who decided to participate and dress up. Maybe it is because it is so comfortable?!

Good morning! Sophomore Peggy Boisvert sporting her cow print p.j.'s and Junior Josh Marshall in his plaid robe take some time to discuss how much fun they had during the first day of homecoming week.

Rise and shine. Sophomores Paul Overby and Richelle Garcia support their class by participating in the dress up competition on the first day of homecoming week. Their hair styles make them look like they really did wake up and walk.

Squeeze that orange! Jesse Allgeyer and Jamie Elerbreek help try to pile up some points for the sophomore class by participating in the Orange Toss.

Hey, pull my finger! Senior Princess Kim Horn and her escort Matt Davis joke with each other about their plans to be crowned King and Queen. We will just have to wait for Friday to see if they do!

Batgirl. Junior Sammy Claterbos participates in the Bat Spin Junior Olympic Game. Her classmates Kim Strickland, Matthew Allen, Daniel Hooper, Ryan Johnson and Wendy Bandeen watch with support while they wait for their turn. Due to complex rules Jeannie Hart played official for the day.

FAMOUS PERSON DAY

Famous Person Day produced some surprisingly good results. Participation from each class was great, and the costumes were creative. Junior Sammy Claterbos won the contest for best dressed girl as Scarlet O'Hara, beating April Shrode, who was dressed as a giant Subway Sandwich for the Seniors.

For the Sophomores Peggy Boisvert was dressed as Princess Diana. Christi Burton was dressed as Marilyn Monroe for the Freshmen. The best dressed guy was Senior Jesse Wilson, as Clark Kent/Superman. There was close competition from Junior Josh Dunn, who pulled off a near perfect Drew Carrey costume. Aaron Marshall, Jesse Algeyer, and Adam Bobek were the best dressed stooges for the Sophomores. Freshmen Ryan Anderson dressed up as Batman.

The first Junior Olympic game for Tuesday, was the Lifesaver Pass. Seniors took first place, Juniors took second, Freshmen took third, and Sophomores took fourth. The second game of the day was a tug-o-war competition. In the first match the Juniors beat the Freshmen. Then the Seniors beat the Sophomores. Then the losers were in a fight for third. The Sophomores beat the Freshmen, and (as expected) the Seniors stomped the Juniors in the winners match to take first place.

Pulling their way to victory Chris Bergerson, Jenny Forney, and others beat the Juniors in the championship match of the tug of war contest.

Careful! Jack Bartling saves the Lifesaver from hitting the ground on a pass from Stephanie Riley.

The Big Sandwich and the rest of the Seniors are waiting to go through the hoop after the big sandwich, put a lot of effort into the beginning of the assembly, costumes and cheers. Everything from playing "Men In Black" on Class Unity day, to the hoop you see here.

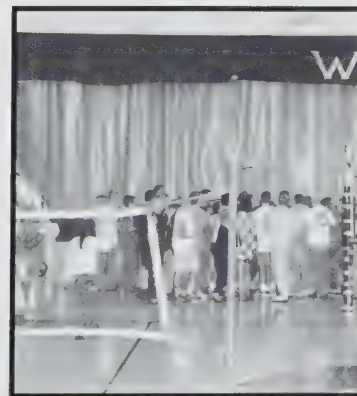

Great Costumes!Christi Burton and Ryan Anderson show off their costumes for the Freshmen class.

Wow, what unity!Nearly all of the Seniors wore costumes to get their class the most points for dressing up.

It's a bird, it's a plane, it's Superman!Jesse Wilson gets a lift from his freinds as he flies to victory in his first place Superman costume.

The Three stooges are lose in the school, but hey what's new. Weren't you three supposed to dress up for famous person day. Just kidding. Aarron Marshall, Jesse Allgeyer, and Adam Bobek you guys look great even if you didn't dress up. Joking!

The Seniors try to rise above the competition with a new idea. Too bad the judges didn't buy it.

It's Drew Carrey! Oh wait, it's just Josh Dunn. That really is a striking resemblance, don't you think?

The princess and the pimp, are Sophomores Peggy Boisvert and Warren Murphy. Peggy is Princess Diana and Warren's costume, is self-explanatory.

Class Unity Day

The Warrenton High School student body came together with an explosion of color to celebrate Class Unity Day. The Seniors lead the way with 100% participation and the Juniors and Sophomores were a close second. The Freshman had fewer participants, but all in all, the day brought us closer within our classes.

The winners of the best dressed competition were Heather Michaelson and Josh Dunn. Heather showed the Senior black and Josh wore the Junior white. The Sophomores were blue and the Freshman were red.

The Junior Olympics games were chubby bunny and the whipped cream pie game, two of the rowdiest, stickiest, and messiest Junior Olympics games this week. The Juniors won both events. The Seniors were a close second.

The Freshman shocked us all by coming up with third place in the whipped cream pie contest. They were fourth in the chubby bunny. The Sophomores tried hard and came in fourth and third respectively.

Teams of two girls and two boys from each class all played in the Boo-Boo tournament. The Pink Too-Too made yet another yearly appearance and won the tournament for the Senior class. The day ended with the Juniors taking first overall and the Seniors taking second. The Freshmen were third and the Sophomores were fourth.

Doing her best to imitate her slippers, Richelle Garcia assumes the position during the Wednesday night boo-boo tournament.

One more marshmallow is about to be crammed into Junior Zach Marshall's mouth for the chubby bunny contest. Zack gave a great effort to win the guys half of the competition.

Finishing with great form, Junior Wendy Bandeen executed a perfect pass for her team at the Wednesday night Boo-Boo tournament. Wendy and the rest of her team had a good showing and made it into the finals of the tournament.

Laughing hysterically, Senior Jessica Lahaie takes a big bite of whipped cream. With Jessica's help, the Seniors came in second place in this event.

Stretching her mouth to the limit, Freshman Lindsey Forney tries her hardest to win chubby bunny. Lindsey and her teammate Andy Wintersteen were disqualified early in the contest. I guess that they couldn't compete with the mouths of Krystal Schnieder, Michele Greget, Chris Bergerson, and Zach Marshall.

HOBO DAY

Today was Tuesday, October 16, 1997. The students that dressed up look like a bunch of bums. The costumes were clever and of a dirty variety. Seniors borrowed shopping carts from local stores and Rally gave an effort to show their school spirit. A few clever individuals even brought their own box homes, and will work for food signs. Someone even brought a pickle jar with one floating pickle in it?

The Junior Olympics for the day were a skit in box, the potato sack race, and the skateboarding race. Five people from each class were given a box of stuff. They had to devise a skit about the Homecoming game, dance, theme and class unity using only the props in the box. Some of the items they found; a hose, a lawn chair, a mop, a book, toilet paper, etc. Each class did well, but victory was the Juniors!

The next event was the potato sack race. Four people from each class were called down to race against each other. The course started at the main entrance to the gym and circled the basketball court. One person from each class went at a time. It was pretty funny watching our classmates fall on their faces or frantically run in the sacks. The winner of the potato sack race was the Sophomores. The final event was the skateboarding race. This was extremely difficult because you had to sit on the skateboard and maneuver around cones with a plunger. This event ended up being disqualified because everyone cheated by using their hands. This was also very interesting to watch. Some people had it down to a science. For others it took awhile to get the hang of things. Overall, Hobo day was full of excitement and fun!

Junior class performers for the skit in a box were Zack Marshall, Jacoby Marshall, Dusty McGrorty, Stacey Brim, and Krystal Schneider. They did a very good job! They took first place. Which considering they only had ten minutes is great.

What are these guys doing? Alex Cabalona, Duane Shrode, and Brandon Penning show their class spirit by putting on a skit in a box for the Seniors.

More than just a Hobo Jessica Lahaie goes a little over board with her costume. I think Drew Gramson is looking for that pickle, I wonder what else is in that jar?

Garbage bag and all, Brandon Manke gets first place in the best dressed boy contest for the Junior class. Brandon had a great costume, and a box home, with the essential can collection included.

Racing around the corner Steven Maltman gets first place in the potato sack race for the Senior class in the Junior Olympics.

Purple and White Day

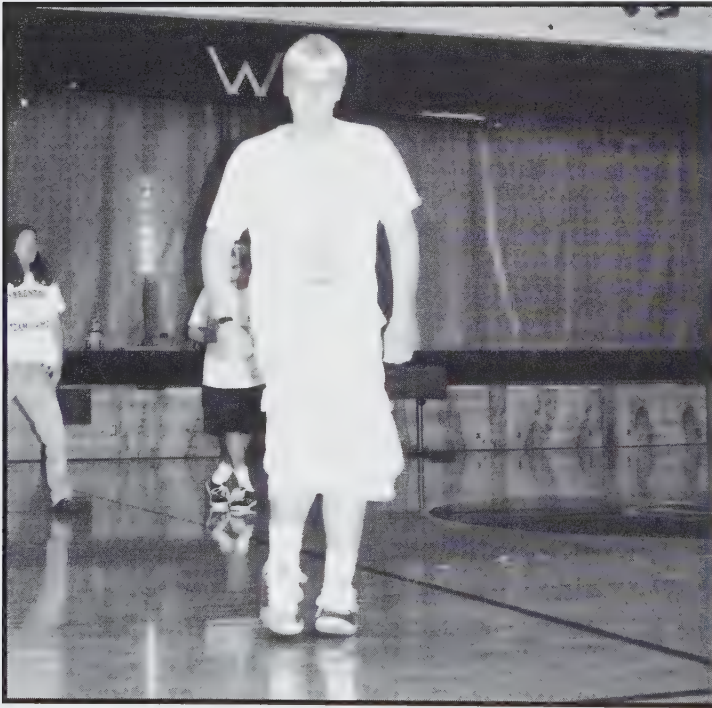

This year's Purple and White Day was very exciting. We had the Lip-sync competition and the pommel-horse pillow-fight. The Seniors won the lip-sync, followed in second place by the Juniors, then the Sophomores in third and the Freshmen, in fourth. The Juniors were led into victory on the pommel horse by Dustin McGrorty, followed in a close second by the Seniors, led by Matt Davis, and then the Sophomores headed up by Nathen Baldwin and the Freshman led by Andy Wintersteen.

Everybody tried to dress up, and most classes had good participation. Ryan Thebiay (Junior) and Kim Horn (Senior) won the contest for the best costumes, but there were plenty of other really nice outfits.

There was a general air of excitement because we also had the game that night against the Vernonia Loggers, and everyone, especially the football players, were revved up.

Superior Senior lip-sync-team. They impressed the judges with their great dance-action.

The Sophomores were getting the third place in the Lip-sync competition with Forrest Tilander's help.

Fourth place in the dress-up competition was announced for the Freshmen Talia O'Brien and Jarrod Thebiay.

Master of Ceremonies Kim Horn was one of the leaders in Homecoming week. The picture shows her in her dress which let her win the prize for the best dress on Purple-White day. She and the others experienced a lot of stress, organizing the whole Homecoming Week. We are all thankful for organizing such a great week for everyone.

THANK YOU!!!

Homecoming Game

A week full of excitement and school spirit came to an end with the Homecoming game on Friday, October 17th.

Our new stands are now complete thanks to the National Guard. The dedication ceremony took place at 7:00pm with inspirational speeches by Mr. LaCasse and Mrs. Gach. We recognized the National Guard for their service to the community and our school. The ceremony ended with a cannon blast signaling the start of the game between the Warrenton Warriors and the Vernonia Loggers.

Warrenton scored first, and continued to score throughout the first half. When the first half ended the cannon blared again, the score board read 34-0.

Senior athletes from the football team, the spirit squad, and the cross country club were recognized along with their parents. The Juniors won Homecoming Week making the crowd go wild. Not that it surprised anyone.

The Homecoming Princesses and their fathers were driven up in Hummers by the National Guard. Starting with the Freshmen, each Princess was introduced while being escorted by her father. Members of the Army National Guard carried trunks containing balloons. The trunk with the purple balloons would reveal which senior girl would be crowned queen.

The trunks were opened all once, and the 1997 Homecoming Queen was senior Jenny Forney.

Once again the cannon went off signaling the start of the second half. The Warriors were still doing great. As a matter of fact they scored another six points. The Vernonia Loggers didn't score until there were two minutes left in the game. The final score was 40-7. The Warriors win another game!!!!!!!

Senior princess San Nguyen is escorted by her father, Cu Nguyen during half time before crowning.

The crowning ceremony took place during half time. Jenny Forney recieved her crown from Sammy and Stephanie Claterbos.

The National Guard is presented with T-shirts saying Warrenton Warriors Stadium 1997 and certificates of appreciation at the dedication ceremony before the game.

Homecoming Dance

The Homecoming Dance was held in the Warrenton High School gym on October 19, 1997. Couples began arriving at around 8:00 for pictures. The cost for admission was $9.00 stag, and $15.00 per couple. Most people stood around and waited in line to get there pictures taken. A few people mingled around the refreshment table. Feasting on pretzels and water-down punch. Yummy!

Mr. Hackwith and the decoration commity did an excellent job setting up the dance. After taking off your shoes at the shoe check-in area, you strolled down a path lighted with street lamps and covered with shimmering leaves. The main dance area was full of people dancing and talking, generally having a great time.

People threw their pennies into the fountain in the middle of the dance floor, in hopes that their wishes would come true. Eventually, the fountain sprang a leak, but it didn't spoil the beauty of the night. A few Seniors were slightly disappointed at the lack of goldfish in the fountain, which has been a tradition for the past few years. Despite the over productive fog machine and slippery dance floor everyone seemed to thoroughly enjoy themselves.

At around 10:00 the King Chris Bergerson and Queen Jenn Forney were called upon to dance to the chosen theme song "Hold on to the night". The prince and princess from each class soon joined in, and then so did everyone else.

It was definitely a memorable night for us all. Especially for the Seniors, who will always remember and hold on to this night as their last Homecoming dance at Warrenton High School.

Take a break from dancing and have a drink of the delicious, watered down punch like Marcus Voigt, Brandon Wilson, and Blair Manke. (No offense to the punch makers, but the ice melted a little bit!)

Let's get down and party at the dance with Dionne Neahring, Luke Hill, Britt Manke, and Marah Gannaway. You seem to be surrounded by all the girls, Luke. Maybe you should savor the moment like Marah is.

"Walk Like An Egyptian?" I don't remember that song being played, but maybe it's playing in Nikki Haupt's head.

Sports

Light the Match With Warrior Fire

The Warrenton High School Volleyball Team started the season with a smoking victory over Neah-Kah-Nie.

The players came into the year with more experience than other teams in the league. For most of the team this is their third year together. This gave them an edge over the competition.

Expectations were high for the lady Warriors to get to district and they soared through the league season with one loss. At the district playoffs, the Warriors defeated Corbett to become the District Champions. They lost to Amity in the regional playoffs to end their season with only two losses.

The starters pray before their tough loss against Amity. The team made it to the semi-finals, but lost 15-6, 15-9, to the opposing Amity Warriors.

Warrior Players Speak Out

"This year was a learning experience. We learned that we were one of the best teams in the league, which we really haven't been before. We had good team spirit. It was a great year for all of us."

-Kim Horn (Senior Co-captain).

"The very first day of practice everyone was excited. Even during tryouts our team was excited to play volleyball."

-Jenny Forney (Senior Co-captain)

"I felt like we played to our maximum potential at Corbett. It was a whole different feeling than a regular game. We were like one big power ranger."

-Lindsay Marvel (Senior)

"Of my three years playing for the WHS Volleyball team, this is definitely the best season that I've had. I'm really going to miss my team mates."

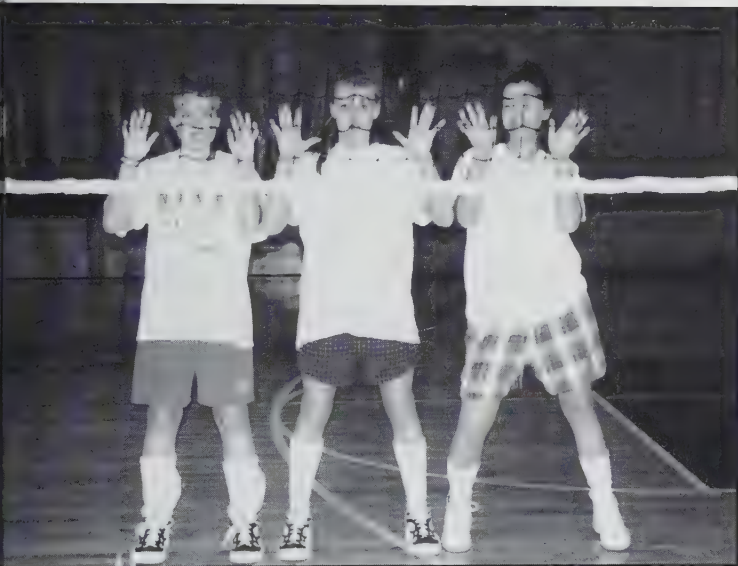

-JoLee Sturgell (Junior)

"Our team played really well this year. We really came together. This was our year and we played it well. Our experience and determination helped us get as far as we did."

-Allison Mattila (Senior Co-captain)

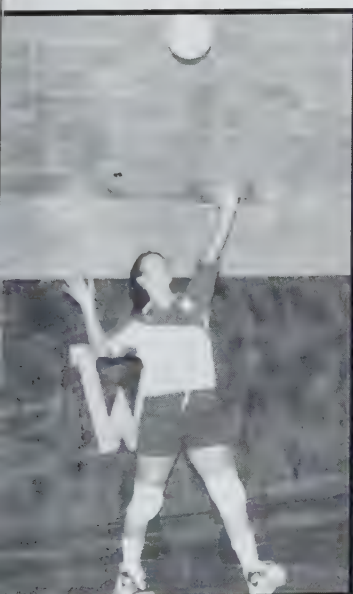

"Overall it was a good season. We worked together and ended up with a good record."

-Amy Hill (Senior)

The Senior girls on the team take time out after their last game against Portland Lutheran to smile. The win assured them the second seed going into the District Tournament.

Practicing their blocks is Ally Gramson, Lisa Leavitt, and Briita Blair for the J.V. team during a Wednesday afternoon practice session.

LIGHTING IT UP

The Warrenton High School football team came into the season with a lot of confidence and determination, even though they knew the numbers out for the team were slim. Going into League 3 and 0 the Warriors were fired up to win the League Championship. After beating Neah Kah Nie 28 to 6 the Warrior were looking forward to playing the Knappa Loggers, who were seated third in the state polls.

The Knappa game was the most memorable game of the season, with 2:30 left on the clock we were down 7-6. We were confident we would pull through. We scored on a 25 yard pass play from Steven Maltman to Zach Marshall and a two point conversion run by Steven to put us ahead 14-7. Dusty McGrorty topped it off with a 52 yard touch down run, which put us ahead 20-7 and gave us another win.

Calling the play, Head Coach John Mattila goes onto the field during a time out to call the next play, "370 X and up".

Driving ahead and struggling to stay on his feet, Zach Marshall runs to get the extra yard.

Smashing the opposition, the Warriors crush Knappa's Stig Frimsted after a short gain, the Warrior defense dominated the game with intensity and determination.

Lined up and ready to go! The Warriors line up and get ready to run the next play during the Glencoe game.

The team takes a knee after another victory to pray and thank God for protecting them from injuries and for another win. The football team set a good example this year. The seniors hope the team keeps the tradition alive by going to church on Sunday and praying before, during, and after every game.

Breaking tackles, Stacey Brim drives ahead for the first down during his most impressive varsity game.

LET'S GET UP !!!

The 1997-1998 WHS Cheerleading Squad was full of fun, high-spirited girls. The captain of the team this year was Carole Chase and the co-captain was Jessica Lahaie. There were six other members of the Cheerleading Squad- Seniors Amanda Brim and Kelli Fulton, Junior Randi Page, Sophomores Tenzin Tsering, Heidi Terese, and Britt Manke. Everyone on the cheerleading team gave each cheer all their spirit. They cheer on our football players and got the crowd to join in during the football games. Their enthusiasm gave us all school spirit.

Keeping the spirit alive are the cheerleaders during the day game where the Warriors beat Glencoe.

Dance Fever

arrenton High School's 1997-1998 Dance Team is made up of five energetic, talented girls who give their time and energy to keep school spirit alive during the basketball games. The team was led by the captain Carole Chase. The other devoted team members were Senior Amanda assemblies and other school assemblies. They showed their school pride and enthusiasm in supporting WHS's winter sports.

The Heat Is On

In a league lacking in depth, the Lady Warriors were a veteran group with the intent on winning. Under Captians San Nguyen, and Head Coach John Mattila, they were expected to finish high in the State standings. Opening with an 8-4 record in pre-season play, the Warriors looked to be strong in the Northwest League. That strength came from five Senior players, two of which made all-league honors last year. These Seniors, grouped with a bench-load of underclassmen, helped the Lady warriors to stick it to the competition.

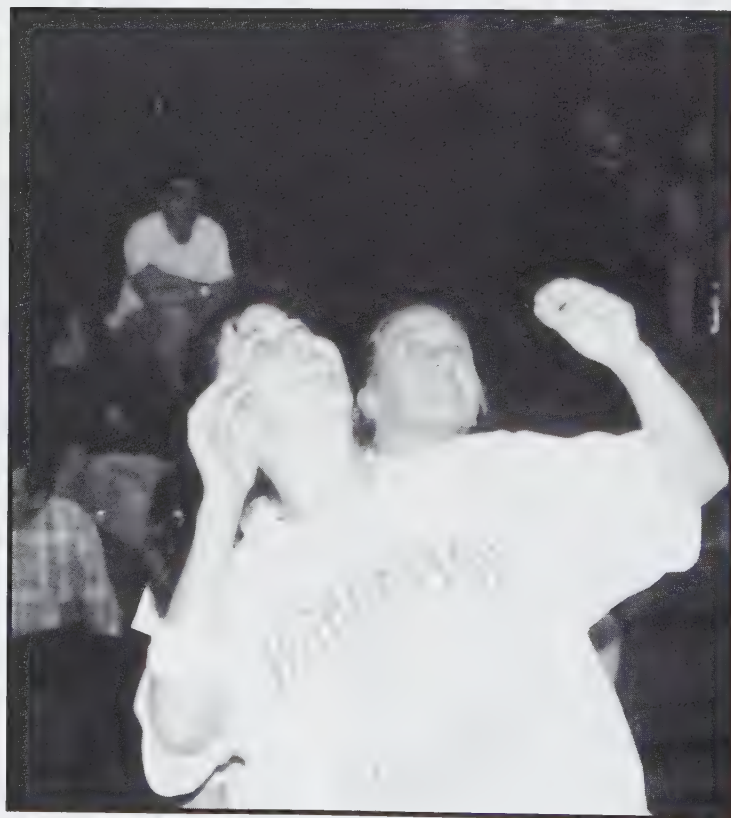

The Lady Warriors finished 13-1 in league this year, burning through all but one of the competitors. In district playoffs, they lost to Temple Christian, but beat Catlin Gable to go on to Districts as second seed. Once there they beat Dayton to come within one game of the state tournament. There, the Warriors were to face the Temple Christian Lions one more time, and were hoping that the third time they could claim their victory. They played hard, but were unable to stop Temple. The team had a great Season and ended third in their region with a 21-5 record.

The season was a good one filled with memories for the girls of the WHS basketball team. They played hard and well for Coach of the Year John Mattila. They made friends that they will never forget. For some it was a season to end on, but for most, it was just the beginning.

Dueling Seniors, Jenny Forney and Allison Mattila prepare to battle for the board. Jenny looks determined, but Allison knows that she has the advantage. She has more assets

After faking out two defenders, Freshman Meredith Flynn skies over her opponent to shoot the jumper in the J.V. girls game against Catlin Gable.

With perfect form, Senior point guard San Nguyen dribbles the ball down the court. See, her socks are even perfect, just below the calves so that it doesn't constrict her muscle. She has the sock rolling down to a science. Now if only her teammates would learn.

During a J.V. time Krystal Schneider and Emily Johnson listen as Coach C. explains his strategy, pass the ball to Emily for a three pointer from half court. Hey, it has happened. Remember Emily? Krystal doesn't appear too excited. Probably because she wanted to shoot the ball.

BASIC NEEDS:

Team captian San Nguyen and Most Valuable player Allison Mattila demonstrate the two things that you need in life, and also helped them to make it where they are today, good nutrition and a basketball.

Finishing the pass, Kim Horn starts the press break for the Lady Warriors. Kim held the position of making sure the ball got into the hands of her point guards. She had one of the toughest jobs, because she had to make it all the way to the other end before the ball got there. She had a great year and was an excellent defensive contributor to the game.

FIRING IT UP

The Warriors came into the season more prepared than they had been in the past few years. This was due to three returning starters (Mitch Johnson, Steven Maltman, and Ryan Thebiay) and over 30 summer league games. The Warriors were ready for the 97-98 season. Going into League the Warriors were 5-4 already tied with last seasons total win record.

The boys Northwest division was the toughest in the state (voted on by the coaches around the state), but the Warriors fought hard all season to move into the program's first playoff birth in several years. In the first playoff game the Warriors upset Portland Lutheran who had been ranked in the top all season. The Warriors advanced to the league tournament at Concordia University where they suffered a disappointing loss to Corbett, who bumped them out of state contention.

Back on D The Warriors get ready to shut down another Neah-Kah-Nie attempt in their 100-57 win.

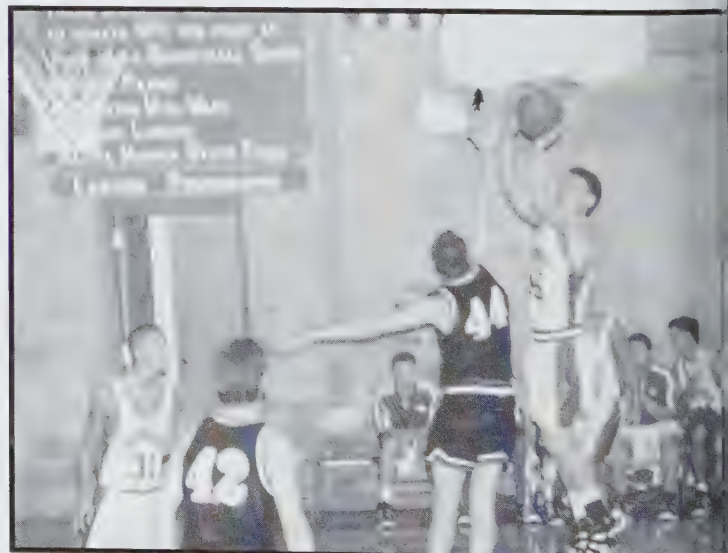

Jogging Zach Marshall gets back on D for another defensive stop.

Taking the point, Rigzen Topgyal looks for the open man or the open 3 pointer.

Swimming In Hot Water

Senior Barney Boisvert and exchange student Jaakko Haikonen represent Warrenton High School on the Seaside High School boys swim team. Barney currently holds every record for every event at Seaside High School. He also was the Oregon State Champion in 1997 in the 100 and 200 freestyle. In his age group he is Oregon's top-ranked male swimmer in six events. Barney got first place in all of his events at the State Meet. Jaakko started swimming in Finland when he was eight years old. He says that since he is here, he has improved thanks to his coaches Dan and Lori Ave. In the state tournament at Mt. Hood Community College, he got second place on all of his events.

Burning Blisters, the Warrenton Warriors

The wrestlers of Warrenton High School for many generations have made it a goal to make extreme championship marks on the charts and scales of state rankings. Proud to be a wrestler, and proud to win even if it includes injury or bodily harm. The wrestling warriors of Warrenton High School charge into battle with torches lit. Dennis Warren and Harvey Rhodes lead a new team of Warriors toward their goals this year. All members of the team listed below : Ryan Anderson,

A proud winner is Dusty McGrorty after the championship match in the 189 weight class at the Warrenton Invitational Tournament.

The down position is what David Gannaway is in. This year was his last wrestling season and he got third in districts. He always tried his hardest.

George Arnall, Wesley Balensifer, Chris Bergerson, Al Cabalona, Cayben Marshall, Coby Marshall, Dave Gannaway, Nathen Baldwin, Dustin McGrorty, Travis Regier, Claas Schmid, Duane Shrode, Lobsang Tsering, Dennis Warren (coach) and Harvey Rhodes (asst. coach). This proud wrestling team took the second place in the District tournament. Another happy event this year was the marriage of Dennis and Lynn Warren on the 17th of January - 1998.

First place at the state tournament makes Wesley Balensifer the proudest person in his weightclass. A lot of his opponents got scared before the match by Wesley's strength.

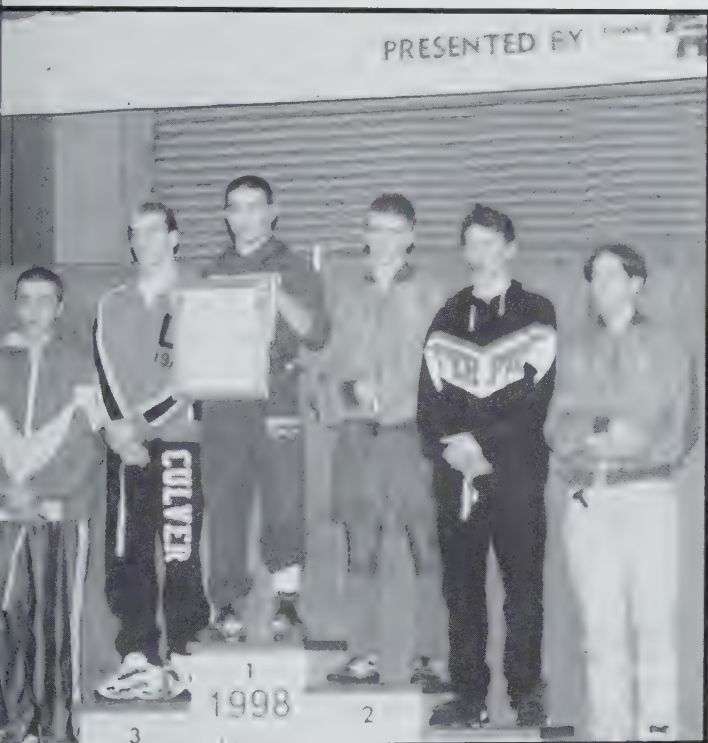

Final victory for Wesley Balensifer. After the referee raised Wesley's hand, it is official that Wesley is the winner. Still a little out of breath, but very happy.

State champs Wesley Balensifer and Ryan Johnson are in the arms of their asst. coach Harvey Rhodes after they won their state championship match.

Busy Coach Mr Warren is discussing wrestling moves with another coach, while his wife is watching a Warrenton wrestler on the mat.

Comfortable on the highest step of the winners podium is Ryan Johnson after his hard work to be state champ. After he had received his medal and was done with wrestling for this year's season, he was happy to be able to eat all he wants again.

COACHES CORNER

"The mighty Warrenton wrestling team started the year off at the prestigious 4-A dominated LaGrande Tourney by placing 3 wrestlers in the finals including Dusty McGrorty 189 2nd, Wes Balensifer 215 2nd, and Alex Cabalona Heavy Weight Champ. Other highlights include tourney championships at Neah-Kah-Nie, Vernonia, and Warrenton. The wrestlers went undefeated in dual meets with a 12-0 record, including wins over defending state champs Dayton and 3rd ranked Neah-Kah-Nie. At the District tourney the wrestlers grabbed the 2nd place trophy in the 15 team district. An Unprecedented 5 wrestlers won district championships- Ryan Johnson, Jesse Wilson, Dusty McGrorty and Wes (Jethro) Balensifer. The hard charge at the finish left the Warriors just a few points shy of a District Championship at the 57 team State Tourney. The 6th ranked Warriors battled hard scoring 3rd place (189) Dusty McGrorty, and landing two State Champs for the first time Wes (Jethro) Balensifer (215) and Ryan Johnson (135). All 62 pts. scored were by returning wrestlers. The mighty Warriors finished in the top 10 in state for the 20th time in 24 years edging out Nyssa for the 5th place. Even though Seniors: Jesse Wilson, Duane Shrode, Alex Cabalona, David Gannaway and Chris Bergerson will be missed, a strong incoming freshmen class coupled with the returning vets will give the Warriors a great shot at the State Title." ~ Coach Warrior

THE DYING FLAME

Winding up Kris Tucker gets ready to hit another one of his hundred-yard drives.

This year's golf team was a young squad with only one returning varsity golfer and a new head coach, Jim Hackwith. The Warriors focused on having fun because, for the most part they were in no contention for the League championship, with only one match win over Neah-Kah-Nie.

The only senior, Steven Maltman went to the 2AA State Tournament where he placed 6th individually and then qualified 3rd at 1-3A districts to receive first team all district and the opportunity to go to Eagle Crest for 1-3A State, but unfortunately he did not play well and did not place.

Focusing on the ball Greg Hitchman prepares himself to hit a long drive.

Carrying his bag Blair Manke walks down the fairway on the first hole at Astoria Country Club.

eing off on the second round of Districts, in which he took third place.
is advanced him to the 3A State Tournament.

Lining up Kris Thornhill gets ready to tee off on a beautiful afternoon at Astoria Country Club.

The 1998 Warrenton Golf Team gets their picture taken before the last team golf match of the season. This could be the last golf team for several years at WHS.

BURNING UP THE TRACK

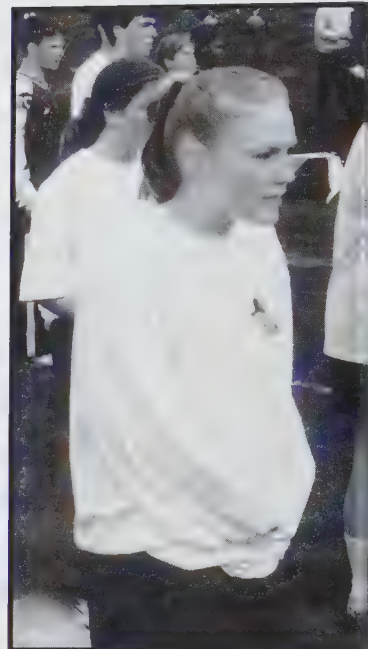

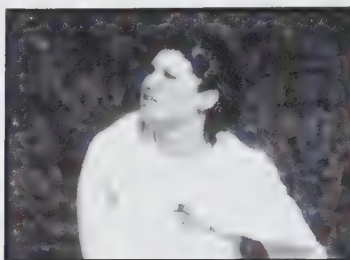

The Warrenton High School Track Team had a strong season this year. We had a fantastic coaching staff as well as several outstanding athletes. This season there were several school records broken. In the Pole Vault, freshman, Meredith Flynn vaulted 8ft to break the school record. Junior, Josh Dunn, broke the school record for the discus with a toss of 138ft.

On the track, we put out some competition in the long distance and sprinting events. Junior Sammy Claterbos and sophomore Peggy Boisvert pushed themselves all season and had tough competition in their events. Junior Josh Marshall and Sophomore Adam Bobek ran several good races in the long distance and dropped several seconds off their times. Freshmen Andy Wintersteen put out an excellent season and took first place in both the 200m and in the 400m at every league meet. Although track and field is an individual sport, the team members join together to make a strong team. We are lucky to have a lot of people on the team that participate and do their part to help the team over all. Many of these people are always willing to go the extra mile for the improvement of our squad, because of them we came close to taking the league title at the conference meet.

This year we had seven state competitors. Krystal Schneider went to state in both the Shot Put and in the Discus. She took first place in the Discus with a PR throw of 123 feet 4 inches and fourth place in the Shot Put with a mark of 36 feet 6 inches. Amy Hill went in three jumping events, High Jump, Triple Jump, and in the Long Jump. Amy placed third in the long jump and triple jump and had a PR in the long jump with a leap of 17-4.25 feet. Amy cleared 5-2 at the State Meet, coming in second place. Participating on the guy's side of the team, Andy Wintersteen went to state in the 400m and in the 200m. Andy also went to state as a member of the Boys 4x400 team. Andy placed 9th in the 200m and 4th in the 400m. The 4x400 team took second place, dropping seven seconds off of their previous best time, and they came within 1.42 seconds of the school record. The other members of the 4x400 team were Tim Cavett, Dan Smith, and Brandon Manke. Adam Bobek served on the team as an alternate. Josh Dunn also went to state this year; he competed in the Discus, placing ninth with a throw of 127-10 feet. This year has been quite a successful and fun year for everyone on the team.

Pushing herself to the limits, Senior Amy Hill, glides down to the mat, while high jumping at the Daily Astorian Invitational Track Meet hosted at Astoria High School.

Throwing it all away, Senior Dan Smith throws the Javelin at the Daily Astorian Invitational held at Astoria High School.

Letting it out, Senior Kim Horn throws the Shot Put at the Daily Astorian Invite. Kim "put out" a great season.

Beware! Hurdles Ahead! Nothing gets in the way of Senior Jenny Forney. She jumps over those hurdles with the greatest of ease.

Ready! Set! Go! Freshmen Meredith Flynn and Senior Lily Higgins band together for some team cheer.

Javelins in hand, Sophomore, Tony "Smooth Gravy" Coulombe waits to throw at OES.

Stepping out of the shot put ring, Josh "Big Daddy" Dunn walks away after tossing a warm up throw at a home meet.

Stretching it all out, Josh Marshall warms up and prepares to run in the 3000m race. During this race Josh did a very nice job taking up the lead for most of the long race.

Look out for the flame throwers!

The girl's softball team started off the season by actually not having their first game rained out. That is definitely a first. The head coach, Staci Hanna, is back for her third year as being a part of the Warrenton Softball Program. She has had a lot of help at games and practices with three very dedicated guys. Bill Ayotte, Skip Moore, and Loren Gramson have all contributed a lot of time and hardwork into helping the softball team. Stefanie Moore is the number one pitcher once again for the Warriors this season.

She came back this season with a faster pitch that has helped the warriors with many of their wins this season. Allison Mattila and Ally Gramson have also pitched for the team this year. The girls went further than ever this season. They are the Northwest League team champs, and that is the first time ever for this team. The teams hitting and fielding skills have increased greatly since last season and that is one of the greatest reasons that the Warriors have the title this year.

Student Life

National Honor Society

National Honor Society is a service based club whose members exemplify their four pillars: Scholarship, Service, Leadership, and Character. This year, it has, for the first time offered tutoring to other high school students on Mondays and Wednesdays after school and Tuesdays before school for their service project. It hopes to demonstrate the four qualities to the people they tutor in hopes that they gain motivation from it. We also had four new inductees this year. Wendy Bandeen, Nikki Haupt, Dionne Neahring, and Peggy Boisvert were the few who were accepted. They were able to maintain accumulative G.P.A.'s of 3.4, and have demonstrated qualities necessary to be an example for the school. As the officers walked in, they lit candles to demonstrate how they must be a light in their school.

Guest speakers at the induction included School Board and community member Larry Osborn, Mrs. Gach, and Mrs. Whitney. The officers of NHS also spoke, each described their office and why it was important.

New inductee Wendy Bandeen lights her candle of knowledge.

BRIGHTENING UP OUR COMMUNITY

Girl's League started the 1997 school year with the annual Welcome Freshmen Dinner and Gift Exchange at Denny's. The freshmen initiation songs were "Twinkle Twinkle Little Star" and "I'm a Little Tea Pot." The following Monday in school, the freshmen had to wear their clothes inside out and backwards. They also had to wear their hair in pig tails and couldn't wear any make-up to school. During the holiday season, the members of Girl's League volunteered to gift wrap at our local Fred Meyer's. This helped them earn money. Girl's League had a gift exchange for Christmas, which was held in the school cafeteria. Girl's League 97-98 officers are President: Allison Mattila. Vice President: Amy, Secretary: Kim Horn, Treasurer: San Nguyen and Sergeant of Arms: Michelle Greget. The faculty advisor is Jeannie Hart. Thank you Jeannie we appreciate all you do.

YOUTH ALIVE

Shines Their Light

One club at Warrenton High School is Youth Alive. They meet weekly discussing and praying over the issues at Warrenton High School. Their purpose is to promote high moral standards on campus. They also try set a Christian example among fellow students. They share the word of God with other students aiming to make a positive influence in the school. They also get involved in the community. They go caroling at Christmas time, bring people to church, volunteer, and are always striving to be Christ-like in every part of their lives. They want to shine their light for God. They read and study the Bible to prepare themselves as an individual and as a group to be strong Christians. This helps when confronted with a problem or situation that needs help. Youth Alive at Warrenton High School is a club open to any students who want a positive environment to meet with others, pray, and study the Bible as a group. This club was not always called Youth Alive. In the spring of '95 two students

Annie Watts and Travis Hill started the club called Youth Campus Club. A couple years later Samantha Scott became president. She called it Bible Campus Club. It wasn't until this school year that Samantha changed it to Youth Alive, which is a nationally affiliated group. Youth Alive's President is now Steven Maltman. The Vice President is Allison Matilla, Secretary is Jocelyn Thomas, Treasurer is Ryan Thebiay, and Student Council Representative is Amy Hill.

Blazing A Trail

This fall was the first cross country season for Warrenton High school. Made up of several dedicated runners, this group formed the cross country club/sport. The team, although not a true team, attended several meets. Some were closed to high school students others were for all ages. The team was able to compete in many league meets as well as some runs sponsored by running clubs from other areas of Oregon. The girls team was made up of Peggy Boisvert, who earned the award of first team all league at the league meet. The other girl was senior Lily Higgins. Lily earned the award of Honorable Mention All league at the league meet. The boy's team was made up of Marcus Voigt, our international runner from Germany, John Welch, and brothers Josh and Aaron Marshall. Josh also earned the award of Honorable Mention All League. This group of runners were coached by Kay Rannow and Erik Dahl.

Cross Country Club

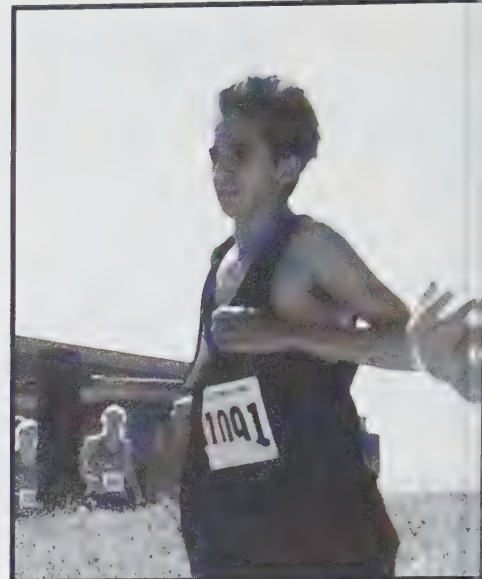

Running against the force, our very own super hero, Josh Marshall aka Option Man competes at the Northwest Classic cross country meet.

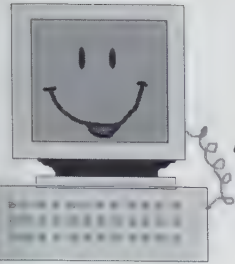

Running ahead of the pack, Marcus Voigt, number 1092, gains speed as he heads down a hill while competing at the Northwest Classic cross country meet in Eugene.

Going the distance, Peggy Boisvert, number 1088, pushes herself to complete the last lap at the Northwest Classic. Peggy placed in the first one hundred competitors for the girls race.

Together at last, the committed members of the cross country team are actually spotted together at last. Aaron Marshall in the tree hovers over Coach Erik Dahl. Josh Marshall, Marcus Voigt, John Welch, Peggy Boisvert, Lily Higgins, and Coach Kay Rannow.

Enthusiastic runner, Lily Higgins, starts the race off with an optimistic view and sticks with the competition at the Northwest Classic meet held at the Lane Community College campus in Eugene.

RED HOT KEYBOARDERS

Computer Club

This year's computer club consists of seven boys. They end their lunch time everyday in Mr. Porter's room playing computer games.

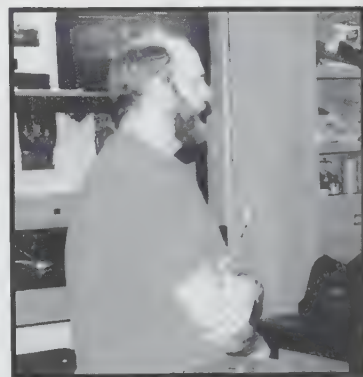

They sell candy bars for fifty cents every morning before school and at lunch. This is their main fundraiser. They use the money to purchase new games and equipment.

One of the games they play the computers are linked, so a group of two or more people can play. They each have their own computer but play one big game among each other.

This year's members include: Jeff Doughty, Trask Sjostrom, Aaron Collins, Troy Bergholm, Mark McCloud, Dustin Everson, and Jeff Blythe.

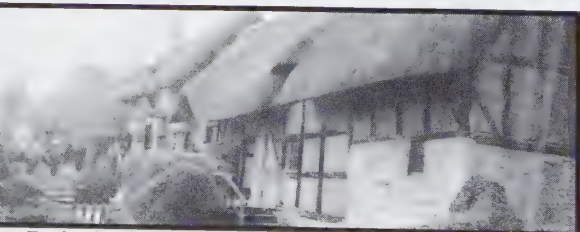

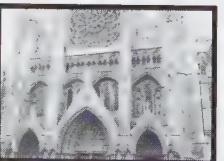

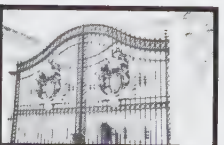

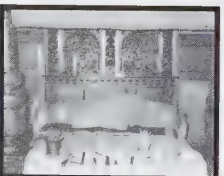

Supervising, this year's computer club advisor is Mr. Porter.

Mesmerized, Jeff Doughty is focused on someone else's game.

Watching intently as Mark McCloud plays are Troy Bergholm and Aaron Collins.

Fiery Fields Abroad

This year Warrenton High School is proud to have three of our own football players chosen to play for the American football team against the English football team. Among 24 other high school players, from all over the United States, Dusty McGrorty, Chris Bergerson, and Dan Smith were chosen to represent their country playing football. All three were chosen as the best high school players, in their positions. Even though they had to sacrifice their spring break to spend three exciting days in England it looks like it was worth it.

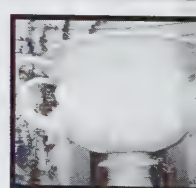

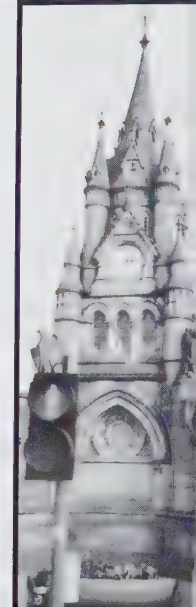

"The football was great, the pubs were fun, the food was terrible and I lost eight pounds." ~ Dusty McGrorty

"England is full of terrible food and bloody wankers, but it's fun." ~ Chris Bergerson

The proud American football team that played against the English. All these players from around the United States played together on one team.

Enjoying his free time between and after the games is Dusty McGrorty, while he is exploring the English culture.

Radiant Royalty

For the first time ever Warrenton High School has three Astoria Regatta Princesses. Carole Chase the 1997 Regatta Queen, Dayna Plummer the 1998 Regatta Princess for Warrenton High School, and JoLee Sturgell the 1998 Regatta Princess who represents the At-large spot for the Knappa Princess, which no one applied for. As a member of the Astoria Regatta Court each girl travels to many regattas, and speaking engagements. Being chosen for the position of a Regatta Princess is a great honor. Each girl filled out an application, had a personal interview, and was then chosen based on her personality, achievements, and academic ability (No swimsuit contest). You receive a wardrobe of clothing and life long friends. Each princess will receive a $1,000 scholarship. The Queen will receive a total of $1,500 scholarship for college.

The best part is all the people you get to meet from all over the Northwest and the head turn when four girls wearing the exact same thing walk by." ~ JoLee Sturgell

"The part I liked best was getting the chance to wear a crown and little kids coming up to me and asking if I was a real princess." ~ Dayna Plummer

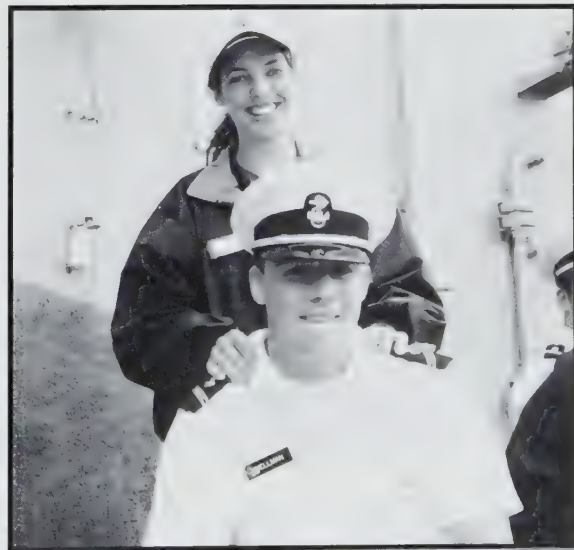

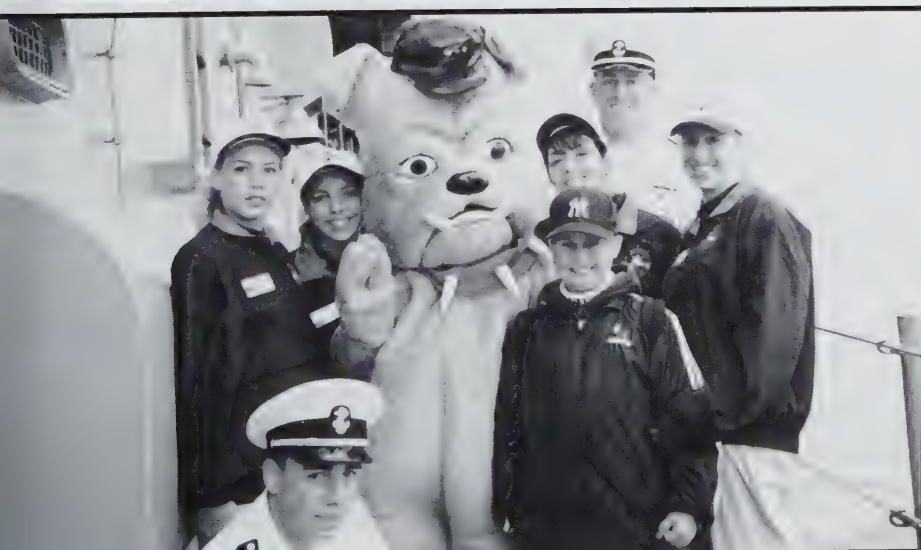

On coronation night Carole Chase is crowned the 1997 Regatta Queen.

Aboard the Navy ship the USS Lewis B. Puller. Princesses Kelsey Hertig, JoLee Sturgell, Dayna Plummer and Laura Johnson pose with officers Tre Costello, Matthew Wellman, Bulldog, and Jr. Escort Joe Supple.

Just one of the perks of being a princess. Princess Dayna Plummer gets a kiss on the cheek. I love navy men they have nice...uniforms.

The Navy is treating these boys nicely. Beautiful company and back massages provided by JoLee Sturgell.

Some Like It Hot & Some Like It Cold

At eleven forty-two the bell rings for lunch. As you walk out of class you always see the groups of people frantically running to the lunch line, or buy a cookie and pizza pocket. Hurrying to get that last item of food before someone else does. Then sit and gather with friends to talk and share their lunches. Chowing down, or scrambling for that last bit of change for a pop out of the machines. After all the noise and rushing, the cafeteria starts to mellow out, all the students start to unwind and begin to focus. Once more, all the kids start the next step of lunch. The after lunch activities in the hall talking or standing around in the parking lot.

After they eat a scrumptious meal prepared by master chef Claudeane May and Ilene Collier served by student helpers jumped into their car for some fast food. Some stand around halls and shoot the breeze about everything possible. Others head off to the library to catch up on last night's homework. Lunch gives all the students and teachers time to kick back and relax. We all need a break to get ourselves back in order after an exhausting first half of the day. At twelve sixteen the bells ring again and everybody goes back to class returning to their normal routines of homework and the wish that it was lunch once more.

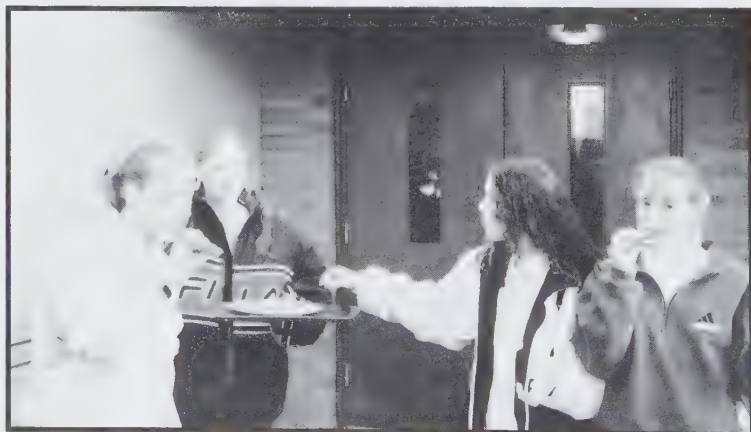

Everyone's appetite is different, Chris Bergerson is just one of the students that chooses to eat school lunch on occasion.

I'll trade you my peanut butter and jelly sandwich for your pepperoni! Alison Flynn, Misty Kinnunen, Vicki Cox, and Merideth Flynn all share.

Pepsi anyone? Foreign exchange students Jaakko Haikonen, Marcus Voight and Nan Vasskog join Josh Marshall eating lunch and chugging lots of pepsi.

Guys chowing down!! Keith U. Dustin Hawks, Casey Murphy, Tim Welch, enjoy a great lunch of pizza and uh...napkins.

Steamed to Perfection

If you head to school between seven and eight you can have the chance to enjoy Warreton High School's brand spankin' new espresso stand! That's right this school has gotten something to wake us up in the morning. No more worrying about falling asleep in class. You can purchase a yummy Snickers cappucino prepared happily by workers like Michele Greget, Forrest Tilander and Andrea Cameron. Also if you happen to have a sweet tooth and you enjoy a variety of pasteries to choose with your espresso or italian soda they are sold too.

Mixing drinks, Michele Greget whips up a strawberry italian soda with cream for one of her costumers. By the expression on her face you can tell she is working hard.

Smiling sweetly, Crystal Martin smiles as she lures in costumers during her shift at the brand new Espresso stand located in our Cafeteria in the morning.

Changing sifts, Andrea Cameron and Peggy Boisvert take over for Forrest Tilinder, working fast to serve the next student costumers.

Burn Rubber

Students at Warrenton High School drive a variety of cars and trucks. From cruising the drag in Seaside to speeding through Main Street to beat the tardy bell, cars have had a big impact on campus life. They allow us to leave school during lunch, and

Cautious driver Than Tussing, stands next to his cherry red Camaro that was given to him by his father.

The Purple Bus is piled full of Seniors, and Ryan Thebiay who were more than happy to skip out of Natural Resources.

they do away with the annoying lines that we had to wait in to see our parents for rides home. The draw back to owning a vehicle is it automatically turns you into a taxi. You can't go a day without ten people asking for a ride to lunch or a ride home.

Fire Wilson stands next to his Black Beast, smiling because he hasn't gotten a ticket in the last two days, that's a new record for Jesse Wilson.

VVVVVRRROOOOOOMMMMMMMMM

Do you ever wonder how Ryan Thebiay fits into his car? Casually he leans against his Red Box. The world may never know.

Striking a pose, Jolee Sturges stands next to one of the two loves in her life. Too bad Matt was unable to be in the picture.

to their first period class. Desperate individuals run around in search of someone who can give them answers to that review they forgot to do. Others just roam with no particular place to go, just east until the bell rings. Kind of like life.

Life at Warrenton High School begins in the halls. The halls support a good percentage of WHS students from seven-thirty to eight o'clock and eleven forty-two to twelve sixteen. Most people are chatting with friends. Those who are late scramble to Volleyball players Ally Gramson and Krystal Schneider as they run off to the bus for their away game.

Hot Jazz!

A special class was added to our music department this year. A group of talented individuals were selected by Mr. Ogren. Many students tried out but only fourteen were chosen. Not only do they sing, they use instruments too, like Tenpa Kunga playing the trombone. They have had a variety of solo parts some which were performed by Nan Renee Vasskog and Carrie Bergerson. They have class three times a week, after school on Mondays and in the mornings on Wednesday and Thursday. All of the students in the Jazz Choir are in band, choir or drama. This was one of the requirements. Mr. Ogren took the group to perform in the Jazz Festival at the Clackamas Communiy College and the way home they stopped at a mall to do a little shopping. The festival wasn't a contest but it was a good experie for a maturing choir. The choir also sang for a retirement home and later at the Warrenton Community Center for senior citizens. Students in the Jazz Choir got a chance to learn more about music, singing, performing and to show their talents to a small part of the world. The new group has grown to be fun and very entertaining. Family, friends and the other audiences have enjoyed them from the beginning and hopefully in the future as well.

Starting at top: Carrie Bergerson, Dionne Neahring, Krystal Schneider, Jeremiah Scott, Kris Boyer, Tenpa Kunga, Josh Marshall, Ma Gannaway, Sara McMakin, Nan Renee Vasskog, Brittney Manke, and Heidi Terese perform at the high school.

Humming their part, Kris Boyer, Heidi Terese, and Tenpa Kunga contribute a beautiful hum to the jazz choir's song.

Extinguishing the Problems

This year members of the Warrenton High School student council decided to have a Ghost Out Day on the Thursday before prom. The day started with the two Grim Reapers (Alex Cabalona and Allison Mattila) taking people out of class by random selection. These people would be led to "The Official Grim Reaper Headquarters" in the counselors office by the library. There, the Grim Reapers would paint the faces of their victims white to symbolize death and make them write down their last words. Afterwards, they would send the students back to class where they were unable to talk to anyone else. This was to create the effect of the person dying.

San Nguyen and Allison Mattila got together with Casey, a representative who organized a skit for the end of the day. Thirteen students performed skits and talked about the different effects drugs have on people's mind, body, and social life. The skit was laughed at and most of the "dead" didn't take it seriously, but there was some impact on the students of Warrenton. The students that went up and took a stand against the use of drugs and alcohol should be admired for their bravery and determination. The Student Council hopes that straight talk about drugs and alcohol will be a tradition that will be carried on by students for years to come.

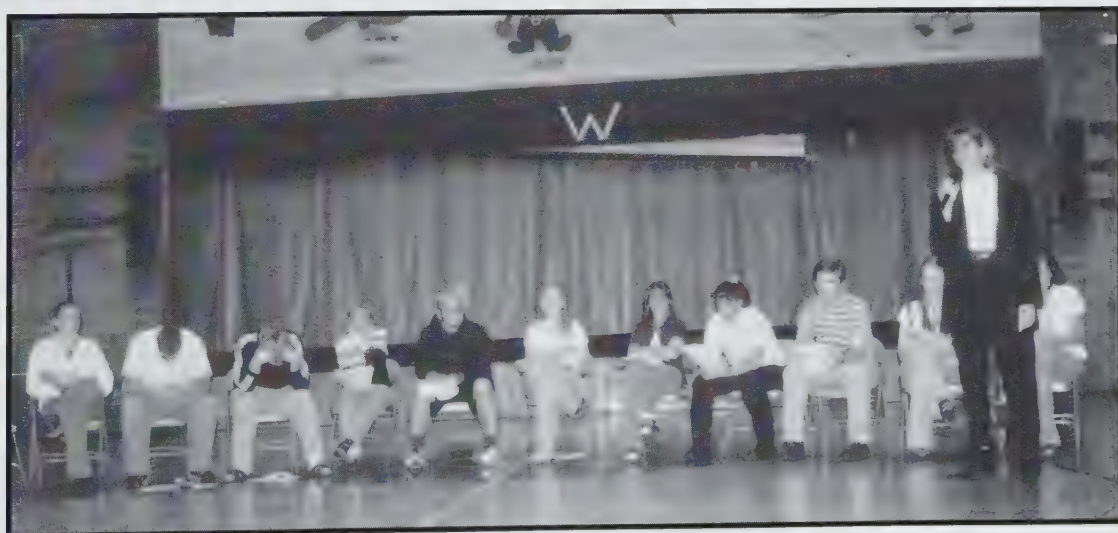

Speaking from the heart, Regina Hansen gives her interpretation of "He Wasn't Waking Up".

Lighting up the room with a hundred watt smile, Sophomore Sara Sjostrom has a great time playing dead for the day.

The cast of the assembly await their introduction by Casey. "These students spent three hours practicing their lines and bravely stood up in front of the student body to say thier beliefs. I am proud of every one of them," Casey said of their accomplishments.

In The Limelight...

Thursday, March 5th was our annual talent show. Put on by the band and choir department as a fundraiser, it was considered a success, making a record total of close to $800. People from all over came to see kids from the Grade School and High School perform. There were many talented acts, from rap to R&B to country. We had performers who performed their own work, or performed music from their favorite composers.

People took time to come up with some impressive costumes, dressing up like the people they were trying to impersonate.

Spice Girls and Jewel seemed to be a favorite of performers. There was dancing to Spice Girls and singing of songs by Jewel. These acts seemed to get the biggest reaction.

All-in-all, the evening was worth the $2.00 we paid at the door to watch people show real courage and get up on stage to perform. Perhaps in the future, these same people will be recording artists, famous dancers, or we will be going to their big concerts at the Memorial Coliseum. Who knows?

Ready for duct hunting, Alex Cabalona introduces another act with a corny joke.

Apologizing for the terrible joke of her friend, Tara Humphries addresses the crowd.

Rocking out on guitar and singing "Little Sister" by Jewel is Nan Vasskog.

The question of the evening for Saralee Stemper is "How Do I Live Without You?" She asks that question marvelously.

Talent Show '98

Playing drums as backup is Aaron Marshall. He doesn't look too happy, though.

Singing a song that she wrote called "Greggy" is Rainie Comstock. Rainie wrote the lyrics, and her friend Maria Ferrell composed the music. They developed this song as a tribute to their friend, Gregory Plummer Jr.

She bought those new heels, did her nails, had her hair done just right... Just so Stephanie Claterbos could sing "Did I Shave My Legs For This?" at the talent show. Just one question: are you betting on romance tonight, Stephanie?

The Fire Breathing Band

If you hear some strange noises in the hallway during the second period, you can be sure that it is the band while they are practicing. Even if they sound pretty strange during their practice, they always sound good in their concerts.

Mr. Ogren, the Band teacher always tries to choose a mix of easy and difficult music and the majority of students are satisfied with the music they have to play. Most people had the most fun by playing pep-music at the Football, Volleyball, and Basketball games. They try to support their team through their pep-music. Even if many band members are also playing on teams, they come after their own practice to play at the games, with the pep-band.

Practicing hard are Stacie Thompson, Tonya McCoy, Sarah Knippa, and Catherine Schultz, during the band warmup time. Like Mr Ogren said, use your warm up time, so your skills will improve.

Conducting the winter band concert is Mr. Ogren. You may think he has the easiest job of all, but in the picture you can see him sweating because of his hard work. He has to keep the band members to play as a team, which is not as easy as you may think.

The perfect trio is Adam Bobek, Jeremiah Scott, and Paul Overby playing their trumpets, at this Pep-Band performance at the Girls-Basketball game against Knappa. They gave their best to entertain the spectators during warm-up and halftime.

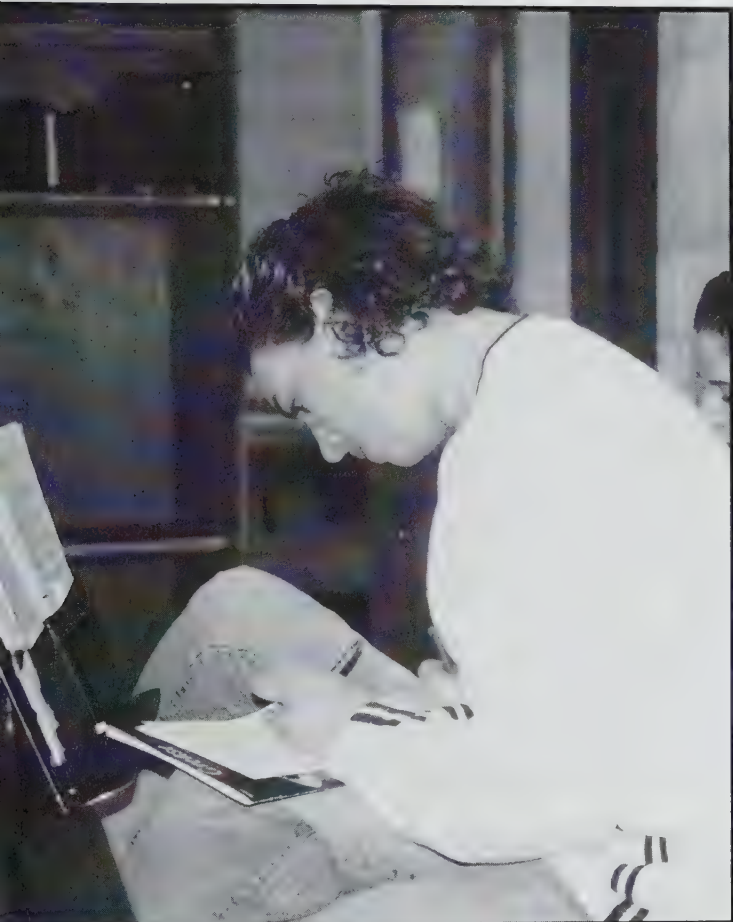

Choir

This year choir has focused on songs from other countries. With help from foreign exchange student Nan Renee Vesskog the choir was able to perform "The Happy Christ - mas Comes Once More" at this years Christmas Concert and at the Astoria Golf Club. We asked Nan how she liked choir and she said it is a fun class she also said that Mr.

Ogren is a talented musician and he deserves more credit for this class because many of the students in this class are uncooperative, she just wanted to tell him that he is doing a great job.

No work just play Krystal Schneider and Nan Renee Vasskog take a break from singing to show there smiles. Well Krystal is smiling Nan looks like she is checking someone out.

Name those notes April Shrode is taking a break from singing to work on a note naming worksheet.

Bringing the words to life Christi Burton, Lindsey Forney, and Mandy Mitts sing together the words to The Music Never Ends.

This is how the first year of Drama Class went...The first play performed was Bonechillers a play about murder, mystery, and greed. It all came down to who could solve the puzzle first, and get old Uncle Josiah Travers' money. The next two plays were done together. The smaller one-act play was called Reunion on Gallows Hill. This was a play about the witches of Salem village taking their revenge on a distant relative of the judge that sentenced them to die. By possessing the friends of Nancy Corwin the witches were almost able to carry out their plan and hang her. The larger play, called Ten Little Indians was about punishment from a judge that had gone too far. Invited for a visit by the mysterious Mr. Owens a group finds themselves prisoners on a deserted island with a mad man. Slowly, one by one each member of the party is slowly killed off fulfilling the Ten Little Indians rhyme. Then Mr. Hackwith (Judge Wargrave) revealed he'd planned to kill them all. To Hack's surprise Brandon jumped up and shot him spoiling all his plans. Brandon kissed Carole and the curtain fell. Drama had it's highs and lows preparing for these plays, but overall it was a fun class. The End.

Help! Hackwith has flipped his mathematical mind! Carole Chase seems rather alarmed that Mr. Hackwith is about to hang her. Quick Brandon! Get up off the ground and save her!

Huh?!? Richelle Garcia is Pippy the maid in Bonechillers, and also a Friend in Reunion. We all recall her dramatic laughing death scenes.

That alliterates nicely, Dr. Benjamin Bradford Burdett. In Bonechillers everyone calls Jared Peeples plain old Buzzy. He also played an undercover cop Davis, Davis was the name.

Look out he's got a gun! Jeff Blythe is aiming to kill? Never! He's just another police officer gone bad, who needs some cash.

Oooooowh! Brandon Penning just kissed Carole Chase or was it the other way around?

Oh my God he's dead! Jared Peeples, Rainie M. Comstock, Carole Chase, Brandon Penning, Andre Perez, Mr. Hackwith, Jack Bartling, and Dr. Magda Konefal observe that poor Mr. Marstin. Jeremiah Scott has met an unfortunate death.

A Few Bright Minds Shine In Quiz Bowl

Much to the Senior's dismay, the Junior Class takes the victory.

Quiz Bowl this year was held on Friday, March 19, in the gym. It lasted from fifth to seventh periods, and if you were lucky, you had a teacher who let you out of class to go watch. If not, you sat in class and wondered how your class team was doing until the seventh period championship round that everyone came to watch.

The first match were sophomores versus seniors, which the seniors won. Next up were the juniors versus freshmen, which the juniors won. The championship round was a very tense event. It pitted the three time winning class of '98 against the very competitive class of '99. From this match, the juniors triumphed, 195-135.

Timekeeper Dominic Brock ponders the question Ms. Whitney just asked.

Frustrated, Jacoby Marsh grunts in disappointment after an incorrect response.

Looking for her fourth teammate, Samantha Scott tries to get someone's attention.

Staring down the judges, the Sophomores wait to hear if their response was correct.

Spacing out, the Freshmen look a little confused at the difficult question.

The Senior team is all smiles, not knowing their future loss to the Juniors.

Senior Chris Bergerson looks a little confused by the question asked.

This year we have one of the largest groups of foreign exchange students in Clatsop County at Warrenton High School. We have students from Norway, Germany, Finland and Poland. Each of the exchange students are involved in a wide variety of school activities. Nan Vasskog is a member of Girls League and is also part of the WHS track team. She was also the stage manager for our annual school Talent Show. Claas Schmid participated in wrestling, football and yearbook for the very first time. Claas said that wrestling was the best of them all! Next we have Jaakko Haikonen who is a very dedicated swimmer representing Warrenton on the Seaside swim team. He makes speedos look good! He swam every morning before school and every evening after school. Marcus Voigt is one of Warrenton High Schools best cross-country runners. Another stud in shorts! He is currently a member of the Track team. Magdalena Konefal participates in a lot of theater work, including 'Once Upon A Mattress'. She loves McDonalds and plans to win the million dollars from the Monopoly game!

Chowing down on pizza, donated by the forestry department for helping plant trees is Mr. Porter and his class.

If your hobby is raising animals, rodents, reptiles, birds, fish or insects, you will fit in perfectly with the crowd in Natural Resources. Progress is evaluated weekly by Mr. Porter, who gives them tips on how to breed their animals or just how to keep them alive. You would be surprised how easy it is to fall in love with lizards after taking care of them for a year. It's not all indoors though. They test the waters at the Skipanon River and the Warrenton Mooring Basin to make sure it's clean enough to let their fish go from the fish farm behind the school. They get fish in the winter and release them in the spring. They help Warrenton's forestry by planting trees at Camp Rilea.

This cute skink is held by JoLee Sturgell. In Mr. Porter's room there are lots of reptiles and rodents. Be careful not to get too close to their faces. They might lick up your nose.

Watering plants is Amy Hill. The little green reptiles in there are the geckos.

Blood Drive

Watch out for that Red Hot Poker!

Warrenton High School participated in a Blood Drive held by the Red Cross. There were 58 people that came in to give blood, but only 44 ended up actually doing this somewhat uncomfortable deed. Kim Horn and Tara Humphries helped organize the blood drive and they recruited many students at WHS to give blood. The seniors signed up for different shifts for being the well known blood drops. Their jobs included chasing cars, sitting in mud puddles, and freezing their tail-ends off.

A smile of confusion, maybe ? Amy Hill and Lindsey Marvel look a little confused about where the blood mobile is located.

Wait a minute! Those blood drops are supposed to be getting people to give blood? Mike Jorgensen and Scott Bue are drinking on the job. Slackers!

The dreaded recruiters Brad Horn, Keith Rockstead, and Kim Horn take a break from scaring vulnerable students into giving blood.

BURNING ROMANCE

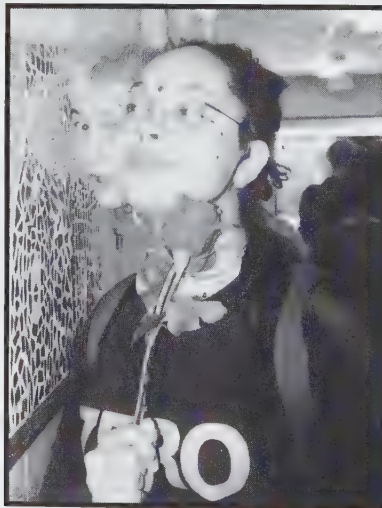

The King of Hearts day can be described in one word, quiet. To start out the day, every girl in the school got a red heart and a safety pin. The girls wrote their name on the heart, and pinned it (in a visible place) to their shirts. Some girls are really creative, but there isn't much of a point to it, since most girls lose their heart in the first five minutes. The object of the game is for the girls not to lose their heart and the guys to get as many hearts as possible.

Every year we have to make sure that the guys play by the rules. Doing anything inappropriate that makes the girl upset and causes her to yell at the guy does not count.

The girls who lose their hearts can claim a new one by paying a quarter to benefit the Girl's League club. The club seems to make the most money from only a few girls.

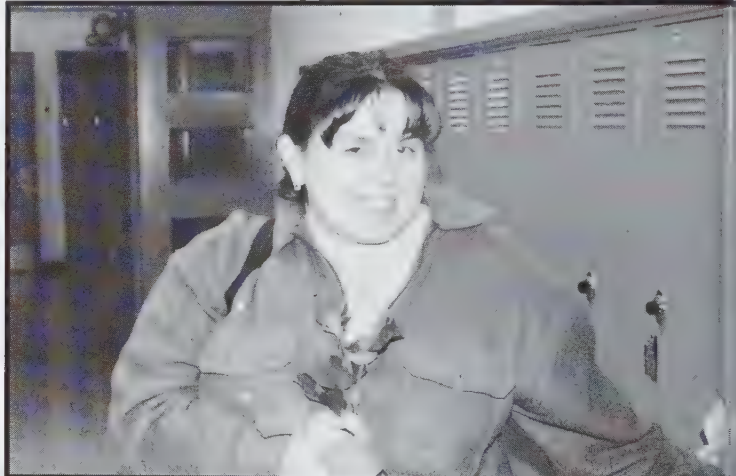

The Kings of our Hearts. Zach Marshall and Blair Manke receive their royal dance from the Warrenton High school dance team. The boys tied with forty-six hearts apiece.

Admiring the wall, Chasmin Stover stands in the way of Aaron Marshall (who smashes himself against the wall so he can get in the picture too).

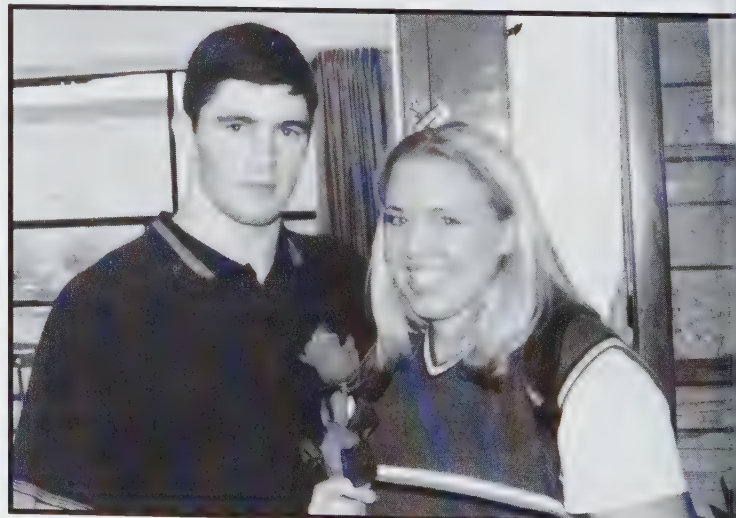

Some teachers allowed the girls to talk in their class during discussions, so the game doesn't interfere with class work.

At the end of the day there was an assembly where there was a junior olympic game (this year was pick the hearts off the girls face game). When they were done with the game the guys who believed that they had the most hearts went forward and had them counted. This determined who would be the year's "KING OF HEARTS". After the judge counted all the hearts, Zach Marshall and Blair Manke were tied. Wes Balensifer tried to help Blair out by lending him an extra heart, but they had already been counted. The dance team then came out and did a "KING OF HEARTS" dance around them.

Cousins Mandy Plummer and Dustin McGrorty share a moment outside Ms. Dick's classroom between periods. Mandy received a roses from her sister, Dayna and her good friend Stefanie Moore.

Smilin' pretty, Rainie Comstock holds a rose that she received from her secret love. Hummm...I wonder who it is?

Walking hand in hand with her man, Jennifer Fisher holds on to the King of her heart, Chris Bergerson.

Chowing down, Alex Cabalona digs into Lindsey Marvel's face trying to get as many hearts as he can into the cup before the time expires.

Trying to win, Zach Marshall tries to scare the winning heart out of Blair Manke but all Blair can do is laugh at Zach's orange hair.

Squeezing her lips tight, Lindsey Forney braces herself for the scratching of Niles Gramson's twelve-o'clock shadow.

Sweethearts Dance

The Sweethearts dance is a time to be with your sweetheart or as the case may be, find one. This isn't the same old Friday night dance. It's the special Friday night, before Valentines Day. But it's not too special, you didn't have to dress formal and watch those manners. You your honey could be casual, feel comfortable and have a good time being with each other.

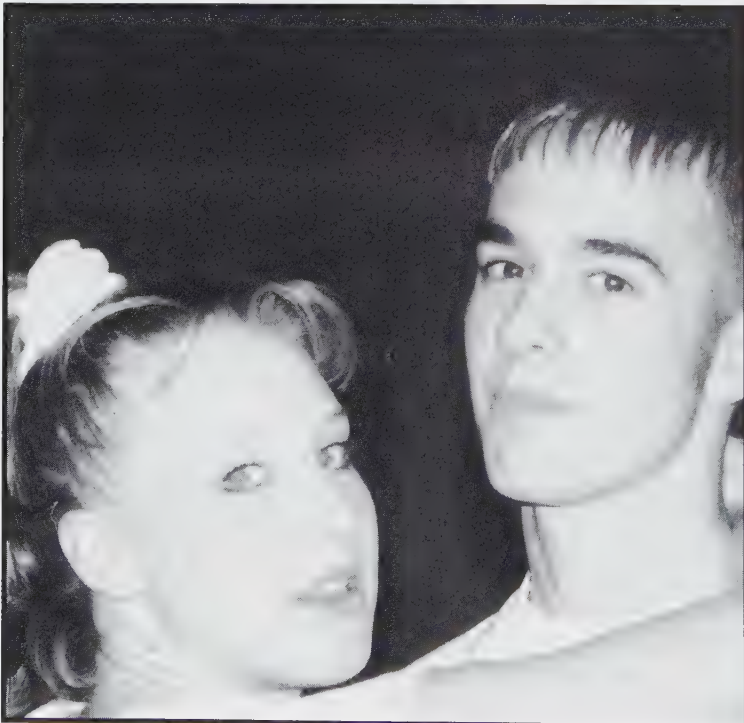

This year the Junior class sold single red roses, and lip and thumb shaped suckers which got everyone in the mood for the holiday and our special Sweethearts Dance. It was topped off with old freinds hanging out, long term couples and new loves sparked during the night. Overall the night turned out to be a total hit.

Hangin' with the girls, Nichole Balinsifer, Heidi Terese, Carrie Bergerson, Stacey Johnson, Marah Gannaway, Jennifer Fisher, and Stefanie Moore sit in a circle and wave their hands in the air to the music.

Getting close, Sheana Jaquez and Cayben Marshall slow dancing, take a chance to get cute in the camera.

Wishing they could hold each other longer, Lisa Leavitt and Zach Marshall dance together to a slow song.

Sitting this one out, Jack Bartling, Brandon Johnson, John Welch, Mike Jorgenson, and Kris Tucker kick back and relax. Who wants to dance at a dance anyway?

WHEN TWO HEARTS IGNITE

Have you ever had that tingly feeling, that this your true love! Only to have them turn out to be, the exact and total opposite of what you desire from a soul-mate? Everyone gets that feeling once in awhile. These solid relationships show us that there is still hope for all of us single people! If you don't think you'll ever find true love, don't worry you will. Love will find you, when you least expect it to.

There is someone out there for everyone of us! We congratulate all the long time couples at WHS and wish them lasting happiness and joy in each others company. Every relationship has its highs and lows. Love, above all else will keep you together and sane. Remember just when you think that "LOVE SUCKS!" is the moment before you fall in love and become the worlds biggest hypocrite.

Forever in love Chris Bergerson and Jennifer Fisher gaze into each others eyes.

This new page was created and dedicated to all the couples at Warrenton High School who we hope will be together forever.

Sharing a special moment, Allison Mattila and Andy Wintersteen.

Still together, Mollie Andersen shows her devotion to Jesse Allgeyer. Aren't they cute!

Truly Madly Deeply

What can I say about Prom... it almost didn't happen! The junior class really struggled finding a place to hold Prom. Tickets sold for $18.00 dollars a couple and $10.00 dollars stag. The theme for this year's Prom was "Truly Madly Deeply" by Savage Garden. It was held at the Red Lion in Astoria on May 9, 1998. Upon entering the Red Lion, couples rode the elevator up to the second floor and went into the main dance area. The Red Lion was kind enough to offer a wet bar that sold a variety of nonalcoholic beverages (The price for those strawberry daiquiris were $2.50 apiece!). Even though the ceiling was really low, great decorations made up for it. Couples had their names written in silver on white stars hanging from the ceiling. The purple and silver skyline in the pictures carried over well with the purple and silver Prom colors. Most of everyone's time was spent in the picture room with Lisa Lamping snapping photos. Prom was a parade of beautifully dressed ladies and handsome gentlemen in tuxedos (Army fatigues?). The music selection was great even though not all the favorites were played. The DeeJays from Complete Music did their best to keep up with all the requests. They even handed out hats to go along with "YMCA" song. The night was full of fun and lots of dancing. We would like to thank all the chaperones and corsage holders for their help at Prom. As things began to wind down they played the last slow dance "I've Finally Found The One". Couples held each other close and as quickly as it had begun it was over. Seniors got their gift (a bud vase) and everyone rode the elevator back down to the parking lot. A few people departed in style as their limousine came to pick them up, while most people drove off in their cars to parties and other gatherings. Some just went home to sleep after a day full of excitement from the Prom. It was a night to remember forever.

Traveling in style are Bill Wentz, Jamie Sparks, Larry Hoover, Charity Wentz, and Amie Breitmeyer.

How much was this strawberry daquiri? Dru Mickelson looks puzzled as Joel Wills whispers something into her ear.

Is it an international love affair or are they just good friends? You be the judge. Marcus Voigt and Dayna Plummer will never tell.

Are you tired already? David Gannaway, DarrenKonadakis, Wendy Bandeen, and Regina Hansen converse over in the corner of the room.

James Bond? No, it's Trask Sjostrom and Amy Brewer!

Standing on the balcony enjoying the evening is Larry Hoover and his date Charity Wentz.

Seniors

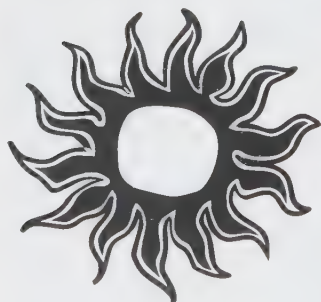

Senior Skip Day

This year's Senior Skip Day was at Bullwinkle's in Wilsonville, OR. The seniors left extra early in the morning and returned later that night. The day was crazy and full of fun. When they got to Bullwinkle's, it wasn't open yet, but everyone had to go to the bathroom. So, they all ran next door to Les Schwab and used the bathroom. Once Bullwinkle's finally opened, everyone went on their way.

Having fun on the bus, are close friends Jessica Lahaie and Amy Hill.

After a hard day, Brandon Penning decides to take a rest on the trip home.

After getting off the bumper boats, David Gannaway, Nathan Jacobs, Alex Cablona, Jenny Forney, Jesse Wilson and Lindsey Marvel stand to get their picture taken for memories.

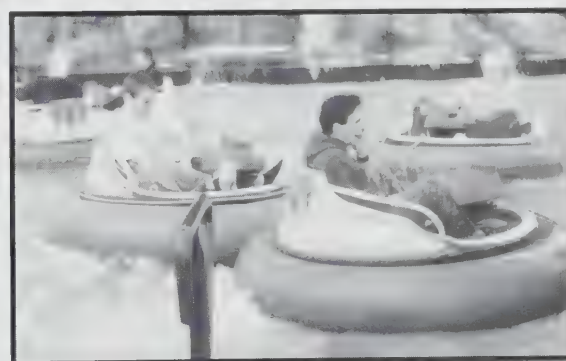

Soaked, Jenny Forney and Lindsey Marvel laugh after being splashed on the bumper boats.

After another wild and crazy ride in the bumper boats, Michele Greget seems to be asking, "Why me?"

Caught IN THE ACT

Waiting anxiously, some of the seniors gather in the back of the bus to recall the good times.

Flocking to the bumper boats, the seniors join up again for a final splash.

Looking a little dazed, San Nguyen smiles as she tries to get out of her hot rod.

Jacob Allen moves to the deep woods, where he collects cans for deposit and sends packages to high-tech businesses around the country.

Scotty Allen perfects his reverse lateral drop, but has to give up the ring when he is bitten by a bulldog.

Nicole Balensifer shaves her head, purchases black combat boots, tattoos her neck and arms, and spends the remainder of the nineties nonconforming.

Jack "Jacko the Magnificent" Bartling becomes the premier magician for the Barnum and Bailey circus. He marries the bearded lady in a touching public ceremony.

Bruce Bemisdarfer owns a suit and tie and dives headfirst into being a prominent corporate executive.

Chris Bergerson has to spend the rest of his life being heavily sedated. He rejects this lifestyle and becomes Tigger and marries a Chipmunk at Disneyland.

Barney Boisvert is kicked off the Arizona swimming team for using too many big words in a paper.

Amanda Brim stops speaking in 2004, when she runs out of things to say.

Scott "Bulldog" Bue becomes a regular on the local pro wrestling circuit, gaining a reputation amongst his peers as a guy who can take a really good reverse lateral drop.

Alex Cabalona parleys his cooking school diploma into a job making Elephant Ears in Seaside.

Carole Chase dances her way into the hearts of millions...wearing Chip...or is it Dale's...costume and prancing around at Disneyland.

Stephanie Claterbos marries a rodeo rider who, understandably, spends all of his time on the road. She sits at home, writing depressing country tunes.

'98 SENIOR PROPHECIES

Vicki Cly is banned for life from talk shows after she attacks Crystal Martin during an episode. Singer-songwriter Martin then sues Cly, a professional boxer, because of injuries suffered in the attack.

Sara Dahmen becomes the executive assistant to a prominent corporate executive. She organizes a hostile takeover because, she says, "I can."

Matt Davis marries the girl of his dreams, which angers JoLee greatly. Matt and his wife make their home in Warrenton, as Matt realizes there is no better place to raise a family.

Mike Davis chops and lowers his truck, details it out, and revs 'er up for a long road trip- and gets stuck on a speed bump.

Tim Dowell becomes a tank driver/mechanic in the Army.

Jon Elliot goes to work for a long distance phone company, in the accounts payable department. Elliot loses his job for cussing out his boss.

Jenny Forney becomes a stockbroker. She invests in cattle when she hears that the exchange was going to be a bull market.

Kelli Fulton realizes her dream of working on runways, sort of. She becomes part of a flight crew at PDX.

David Gannaway loses in his campaign for governor because no one can understand a word of any of his mumbled speeches.

Ryan Gleason becomes a fishing guide. He attracts no business, so he paints a sign, "Freshwater Fishing Guides," which he puts up at the beach. He goes bankrupt.

Drew Gramson finally scores 1600 on the SAT's on his 22nd try. He then takes a job grooming poodles on weekends.

Michele Greget becomes a teaching assistant at WHS, so she can be closer to the people she really loves.

Lily Higgins adopts a wayward English teacher and raises her as her own.

Amy Hill marries a sailor with big forearms and has a child they name Sweet Pea.

Kim Horn becomes leader of a counterculture military faction that attempts to overthrow the government. The coup fails when an entire tank battalion breaks down just outside of the capital.

Nathan Jacobs buys Carhartt overalls and a John Deere cap and listens to Hank Williams tunes to relax.

Brendan Johnson makes a fortune marketing tobasco-flavored chewing gum for red necks: Bubba Gum.

Nitch Johnson moves away to college, only to return after four weeks, because he cannot make french toast as good as his mom's.

Aike Jorgensen becomes an attorney, specializing in the defense of lost causes.

Darren Konidakis becomes a professional heckler at NBA games. Spike Lee whoops him for taking his job.

Jessica Lahaie revives the defunct WHS cheerleading program, but misses the first home game when she can't remember where the field is.

Russell Leavitt becomes a millionaire after he writes Leavitt's Dictionary of Profanity.

Steven Maltman continues his coaching career.

Lindsey Marvel marries the wrestler of her dreams. Class Schmid gets the marriage annulled, however, when he points out that since he was gagged and manacled at the time the wedding should hardly count.

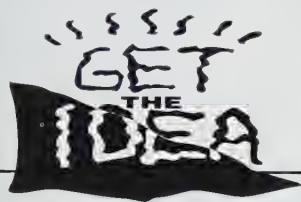

Allison Mattila becomes a teacher, sees the error of her ways, buys a Harley, and spends the rest of her adulthood riding with the gangs of dropouts.

Chris Merrin combines two hobbies into one business venture. Merrin's Surfboard Shark Fishing goes under after one unfortunate day.

Leather Michaelson makes it to the top as a country-western singer.

San Nguyen rejects all technology and opens a garden burger stand on the beach. (San'wiches for a San dollar)

Brandon Penning parley's his acting talents into a successful career as a politician in the Republican Party.

SENIOR PROPHECIES

Stephanie Riley amasses a fortune selling Christmas trees and cookies. She builds a gingerbread house and lives happily ever after.

Michael Shan becomes President of the United States. His first act is to put a ban on Than Tussing's talk show. The Supreme Court upholds his action, applauding it as an act of good taste.

Rich Sheldon gains fame as a high-speed chase specialist for the Oregon State Troopers.

Apryl Shrodes military career ends when she is run over by a tank.

Duane Shrode begins a detective agency. He goes out of business when he can't get a clue.

Trask Sjostrom becomes a roadie for Aerosmith.

Daniel Smith becomes a traffic cop. He is not allowed to drive a police car after several accidents, all of which he claims were not his fault.

Jacqueline Solberg has a wing of the Area Center named in her honor. She backs into it with a tractor at the dedication ceremonies.

Joel Tussing becomes a talk-show host, running opposite Jerry Springer. The show is cancelled after the pilot episode when the guests get into a fight. After all, no one wants to watch that on t.v., right?

Shan Tussing replaces Rush Limbaugh on the air, but is fired, even the Rushes can't bear to listen to him.

Belly Watts becomes a self-promoter on the internet, at WW.Wattshappening.com. She amasses a fortune from people who invest in things they don't understand.

John Welch suffers a total loss of hearing when the speakers in his car explode.

Carl Wiley spends 2 1/2 more years having to sit in alphabetical order by Jesse Wilson in college, telling him to shut up. That all ends when Jesse finally makes his way to the bell tower...

David Yuill moves to the beach, and manufactures his own line of Christmas cards, "Yuill Tide Greetings."

Jan Renee Vasskog marries a conservative businessman, allows her hair to return to it's natural color, and sells all her body-pierced jewelry.

Magdalena Konefal purchases all of the jewelry and leads the Poles in a nonconformist revolution.

Marcus Voigt steals a Harley Davidson and roars into the sunset, vowing never to return to his native land. He is caught by a state trooper and deported.

Jaako Haikonen returns to his native Finland, where he is ridiculed for his American accent.

Our thirteen year flame...

They began kindergarten together at Warrenton Grade School and together they will all graduate from Warrenton High School. Many of these thirteen year students will go off into the world and some will even stay here in Warrenton, but each will be living separate lives. They all have one thing in common, their thirteen years spent together at Warrenton. They've grown up watching each other change. They may not have all been close friends, but they probably know more about each other than most people do. Now as they step into their futures of college, work, family, and all that goes along with adult life, they can reflect upon their past and remember. The good times, the bad times, the fun, exciting, and even sad times of the four years they spent in high school that for a brief moment was their life. We wish these thirty-three students all success and happiness.

Out on the senior lawn all the students who have attended school in the Warrenton School District since kindergarten gather one last time before graduation. Congratulations to: Jacob Allen, Nicole Balensifer, Jack Bartling, Chris Bergerson, Scott Bue, Alex Cabalona, Carole Chase, Jon Elliot, Jenny Forney, Kelli Fulton, Drew Gramson, Amy Hill, Kim Horn, Brendan Johnson, Mitchell Johnson, Jessica Lahaie, Allison Mattila, Chris Merrin, Heather Michaelson, San Nguyen, Stephanie Riley, Mike Shan, Daniel Smith, Kelly Watts, John Welch, Jesse Fire Wilson, David Yuill. Not pictured- Barney Boisvert, Vicki Cly, Mike Davis, Ryan Gleason, Trask Sjostrom, Jackie Solberg.

Baccalaureate and Reception

At the reception following the ceremony, Duane Schrode enjoys a drink of the delicious punch that was provided.

Pastor at Warrenton Christian Church Larry Osborn reminds us we need to plug into the power supply of the Lord.

Standing at the podium, Steven Maltman delivers a speech that leaves the entire audience, students and parents alike, in tears.

"I have fought the good fight, I have finished the race, I have kept the faith. Now there is in store for me the crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous Judge, will award for me on that day."

II Timothy 4:7, 8a

Navigating the crowd of people gathered at the reception, Kim Horn flashes a winning smile as she carries punch back to her seat.

Coming back from their cars, Jessica Lahaie and Lindsey Marvel bring gifts to their friends as a celebration of the next days commencement.

Baccalaureate this year was held June 4th at 7:00 p.m. at Warrenton Church of the Nazarene. It was a very inspiring night, that touched a lot of hearts. Who can forget Steven Maltman's story about the pearl bracelet? Or Larry Osborn's question: "Are we a thermometer or a thermostat?"

That evening opened with Mr. Ogren playing the piano as we sat down. We were then welcomed by Ron Cooper, pastor at the Church of the Nazarene. The opening prayer was given by Delores Hodney, pastor at the United Methodist Church. Pastor Chris Schauermaun from Philadelphia Church read an inspirational scripture, and then we sang as a congregation, led by Christy Dyer, Music Minister at Warrenton Christian Church. Mrs. Gach spoke next, telling how she has witnessed the senior class grow. Saralee Stemper followed her, singing "The Greatest thing." After some more congregational singing Steven gave his testimony, receiving a standing ovation because it was so touching.

Krystal Schneider then sang "As the Deer." We then finished up with Warrenton Christian Church Associate Pastor Larry Osborn's message of being a thermostat, not a thermometer, and a prayer by Doug Marshall, also a Pastor at Warrenton Christian Church.

keep our heads up and our eyes focused on what is ahead of us.

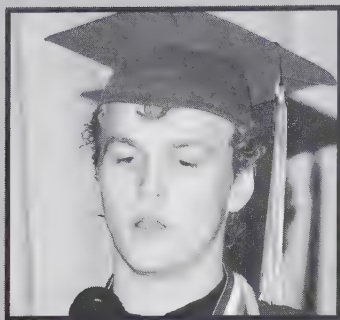

You just can't help but smile, just look at that grin on Alex Cabalona's face. That is one happy guy.

Stop stepping on my feet! Jacqueline Solberg and Michelle Greget walk side by side up to the stage. Excited to be graduating.

Arm in arm Scott Bue and Lindsey Marvel walk together smiling away, they are finally about to graduate.

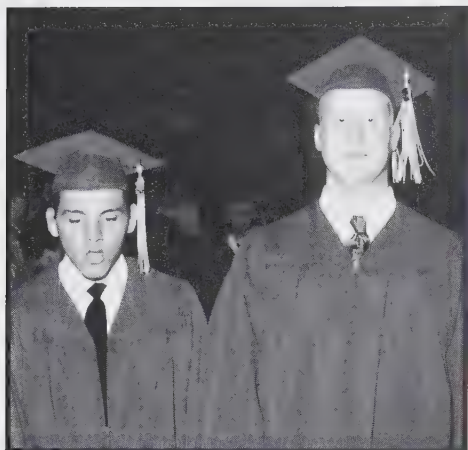

Trying to keep in step to the music, Brandon Penning and Nathan Jacobs both have a look of relief that it's over!

Salutatorian David Gannaway speaks to his classmates giving them a look at the past and the future.

Words can not describe the joy of Stephanie Riley and Lily Higgins as their high school career comes to an end and their future begins.

Notice people rolling in graduation money, and interesting faces in the crowd.

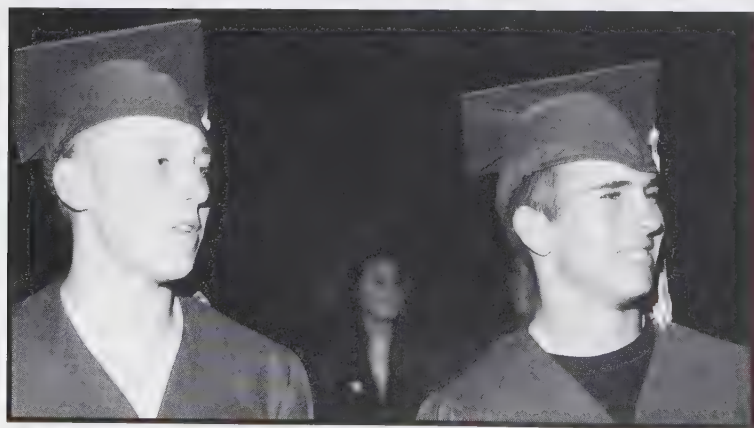

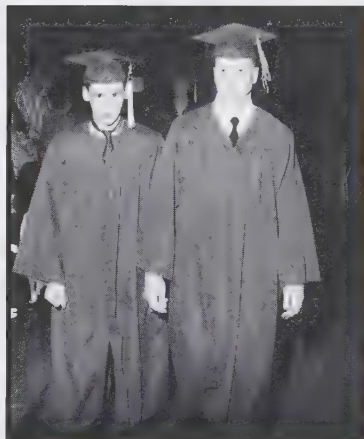

One step, two steps, three steps...

Scott Allen concentrates really hard on what he's doing. Mike Davis seems perfectly content that it's almost over!

The march music must be starting to get on Mike Jorgensen and T.J. McDowell nerves. Otherwise they look pretty happy to be getting out.

What are they looking at? Russell Leavitt and Jon Elliot are pleased to finally be moving on.

Happy to be on their way Carl Wiley and Jesse Wilson walk together on their way to receive their diplomas.

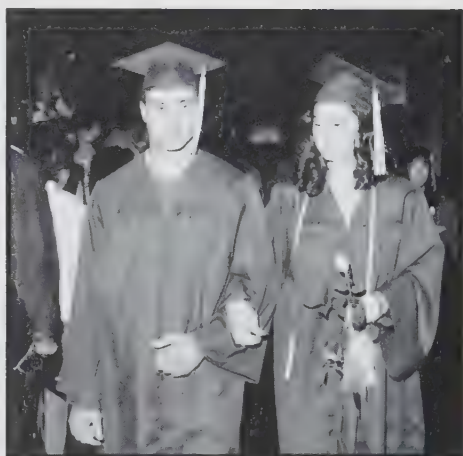

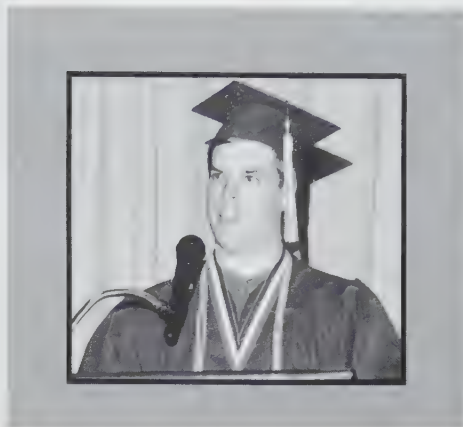

Freedom! Kelli Fulton grabs her diploma and doesn't look back.

Valedictorian Than Tussing speaks some words of wisdom and encouragement to his fellow classmates.

The Graduating Class of 1998 stands together one last time.

Walking together Steven Maltman and Amy Hill must be remembering all the fun things that happened in high school.

What's next? It's over! Darren Konidakis is now wondering just where to go from here.

There is so much to smile about, and it gives Apryl Shrode, Lindsey Marvel, and Jenny Forney a reason to celebrate.

Silly string flies all over the cafeteria in celebration, and Allison Mattila seems to be getting the worst of it.
